

Republicans Expect To Win Court Fight On Redistricting

Legislature Refuses to Give Ground in Controversy

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The defiant spirit in which the legislature recessed Wednesday for a week without further effort to enact a legislative reapportionment acceptable to Gov. Nelson is based on the growing confidence of its Republican leaders that they can win their fight legally as well as politically.

"I guess we'll have to leave it to the people to decide in November," said Assemblyman Haase of Marinette, Republican majority leader in the lower house, in the final flurry of floor argument yesterday that resulted from the taunting charges of Democrats that the Republicans don't want accurate legislative representation.

Actually, the Republican strategy is based on a strong confidence that the district court, taking into account the relatively slight disparities in the present apportionment, and the fact that the legislature tried to improve the equality of representation factor in a bill that was rejected by Gov. Nelson, is unlikely to impose its authority in what historically has been an exclusive legislative province.

Brief Being Drafted

But if it does, the legislature is prepared to carry on the fight. It has already retained legal counsel, who is understood to be preparing a formal brief in the event that it is required to be used.

Legislative debate of recent days also showed that the Republicans are convinced that the Democrats and Gov. Nelson prefer that the redistricting fight be side-tracked to the courts — as a help for the campaign build-up of Attorney General Reynolds as a candidate for governor. Reynolds brought the current federal district court lawsuit.

The conflict between the Democrats and the Republicans on how the legislature should be re-districted has obviously become irreconcilable. The Democrats are sure that the Republicans want to rearrange the map to help themselves, "to swipe Democratic seats," as Assemblyman Hubert of the minority lower house on the eve of Algerian independence, made his delayed return to Algeria Wednesday and received a hero's welcome.

Thousands of Moslems turned out to greet him as he journeyed from the Moroccan frontier to Tlemcen, 75 miles south of Oran, Algeria's second city.

Backers in Control

His next stop was Oran, where thousands of his armed supporters already were in control. Then he planned to proceed to Algiers and a possible showdown with Ben Khedda over leadership of the fledgling Algerian nation.

In Algiers, Ben Khedda's regime was reported growing in, it increasingly uneasy as Ben Bella demonstrated his hold on the Moslem masses on his journey through western Algeria. But Ben Bella struck a moderate pose.

Addressing a crowd of 6,000 Wednesday in the sports stadium at Tlemcen, Ben Bella made no direct mention of his rift with Ben Khedda. But he expressed hope that the new nation would solve its difficulties through the cooperation of the army, the people and the government.

Editor Calls Telstar Satellite Program Gigantic Giveaway

MADISON (AP)—Carey McWilliams, editor of the Nation, branded the Telstar communication satellite program Wednesday as the "giveaway of all giveaways."

"If ever there was a case for government ownership, government operation, this was the time," the New York editor said.

American Telephone and Telegraph Co. financed development of the satellite and paid the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) for launching expenses.

"Sure the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. paid for the satellite and paid NASA to launch it," McWilliams said, "but the government spent a fortune in basic research to learn how to put these gadgets in orbit."

He said the communications company was allowed to use government facilities, because it needed a lot of arms and picked people around.

McWilliams was in Madison to speak at a University of Wisconsin forum.

Job Training Programs Okayed for Wisconsin

MADISON (AP)—Gov. Warren Nelson said today the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare review board has approved job training programs in Wisconsin.

Kennedy Invokes Tax Cut To Spur Business Growth

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon talks to reporters Wednesday at a news conference at which he announced a $1.5 billion "tax cut" for American business. Firms would be allowed larger deductions to keep their plants up to date. (AP Wirephoto)

Senate Group Studies New Revenue Plans

Seeks Substitutes For Tax Break Given to Business

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee considers today substitutes for the tax break President Kennedy wants to give businesses that modernize.

The committee voted 10-7 Wednesday to approve in principle the incentive feature of Kennedy's tax revision bill. But then it voted a substantial modification that committee experts said would cut the tax break in half.

Today some members will seek to knock out the credit entirely and substitute other business benefits. Supporters of the administration voiced confidence, however, that they could retain the watered-down version in the legislation.

Withholding Plan Beaten

The committee also dealt the administration a severe setback by voting 10-5 to eliminate from the bill the proposal for withholding 20 per cent of all dividends and interest.

Kennedy had claimed the withholding system would bring in an estimated $650 million in annual revenues lost through failure of individuals to report. He had banked on the system as a means of recouping about half the revenue the government would lose if his tax credit plan became law.

Pending was a proposal by Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., to substitute a corporation tax cut for the investment credit.

Gore told a reporter his proposal would provide relief for all corporations, with the heaviest cuts for smaller ones. This, in his view, was preferable to the credit.

Corporations now pay at a 30 per cent rate on income up to $25,000, and 52 per cent above that amount. Under Gore's proposal, they would pay 25 per cent on income up to $25,000, 47 per cent on the next $475,000, and 52 per cent above $500,000.

Professional People and Farmers Also to Benefit, Treasury Secretary Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—The biggest federal tax cut of any kind since 1954 went into effect today. Business gets the bulk of the $1.5-billion reduction, designed to spur faster economic growth.

President Kennedy announced the cut Wednesday and noted that the principal pressure for it came from the business community. Many businessmen have been extremely critical of his policies in recent months.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon told a news conference:

The tax cut—which also will benefit professional people and farmers—should have a quick impact on the economy. He said many businesses have promised to use tax savings to increase their investments in the latest machinery and equipment. And he forecast an upturn in orders for these items in the next couple of months.

Larger Deductions

The action, ordered by the Treasury which didn't need congressional approval, offers larger tax deductions to firms investing in newer, more efficient facilities. And larger deductions obviously will mean lower tax payments.

Initial reaction from business spokesmen and congressional leaders generally was favorable. The sweeping overhaul of the tax depreciation system—the first in at least two decades—was designed specifically to meet business complaints that the old system was stunting economic progress.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., of the Senate Finance Committee said "I strongly approve of the accelerated depreciation."

Praise From Halleck

Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, House Republican leader, said "a better depreciation rule is what we have been after all along."

Dillon cited the move as proof that the Kennedy administration is pro-business.

Kennedy ordered a speed-up in the depreciation studies a month ago because he was anxious to produce quick evidence of a willingness to help business and of a sympathy for business problems. Had there been no steel price crisis in April and no stock market collapse in May, the announcement probably wouldn't have been ready until late this month or early in August.

Steel will be one of the principal beneficiaries of the liberalization. Railroads and paper producers also will receive substantial benefits.

The estimated first-year revenue loss of $1.5 billion will be the largest since Congress revised the tax laws in 1954.

Dillon's Prediction

The depreciation overhaul probably means an end to any hope for a balanced budget in the 1963 fiscal year that began July 1. The revenue loss, by itself, will more than wipe out the $500 million surplus which Kennedy forecast in January.

However, Dillon said the government would quickly recoup at least part of the loss because liberalized depreciation will prompt job-creating business investments. Kennedy said the result could be an increase of up to $6 billion in annual capital spending by business.

Under the depreciation rules.

Federal Judge Passes on Negro Voting Rights

MONROE, La. (AP)—A federal judge, in the first action of its kind in the nation, begins today to administer tests to Negroes who want to vote in a northeast Louisiana parish "county" where no member of their race has voted in 40 years.

U.S. Dist. Judge Edwin F. Hunter said he would test 78 Negroes from East Carroll Parish under the 1960 Civil Rights Act. That act empowers federal judges to process applications—or name a federal referee to do so—if there is no other way to end a "pattern of discrimination" against potential voters.

Hunter's action could establish a pattern in the handling of alleged vote discrimination in the south.

The jurist, whose home at Lake Charles is in the opposite corner of the state from East Carroll, will give the Negroes literacy tests, require them to read the preamble of the state constitution and administer a simple citizenship test.

Ben Bella Set To Enter Oran

Expected to Gain More Powers in Western Algeria

ALGIERS (AP)—Dissident Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella was expected to stage a triumphal entrance into Oran today and establish himself as the power of western Algeria.

Telstar Brings French and British TV Into U. S. Homes

Signals Sent to Outer Space, Beamed Back From Satellite

NEW YORK (AP)—The Telstar satellite linked the Old World with the New Wednesday night by relaying French and British television into American homes.

For the first time in history Americans were able to watch a French television program as it was being broadcast.

Several hours later, a program came to TV screens in this country "live" from Goonhilly Downs, England.

While the programs originated in Europe, both came here by a circuitous route to and from outer space. European signals were beamed skyward to rendezvous with the Telstar satellite.

The 170-pound, man-made heavenly wonder picked up the signals, magnified them 10 billion times and beamed them down again to this portion of our shrinking earth.

Clear Program

This entire procedure took only milliseconds, since television signals travel at the speed of light—186,000 miles per second—and Telstar is never more than 3,500 miles above the earth.

In less technical terms, the achievement brought French singer Yves Montand and lovely blonde chanteuse Michele Arnaud onto American screens. The program was so clear it might have been coming from around the block.

The French presentation was taped earlier in Paris for the historic broadcast from Lannion in Brittany and was seen here on all major TV channels.

Espionage Charged

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP)—New Zealand expelled two Soviet diplomats today on charges of spying.

Prime Minister Keith J. Holyoake told Parliament the Russians had sought security information by illicit measures. Both were given 48 hours Wednesday to leave the country, they packed their bags and set out for Moscow today.

The New Zealand government at first brushed off the expulsion order but the Soviet legation leaked the news.

The expelled officials had been in New Zealand more than 18 months. Shchukov was generally regarded as the legation's press officer. He had a wife and young son in Wellington and an elder daughter at school in Moscow. Another wife and his wife left him here.

Sources here said the New Zealand government would not be surprised if Russia ordered diplomatic relations and withdrew the Soviet legation staff. New Zealand has no direct diplomatic representation in Moscow.

Judge James V. Sitter fined Czoschke $75 for being drunk and disorderly.

Purchases Unified

Military Gets Out of Mousetrap Activities

WASHINGTON (AP)—"The military is out of the mousetrap business," a Defense Supply Agency spokesman proclaimed today.

This came to light when a newsman checked a report that the Pentagon's giant purchasing agency had "united" the rat-and-mouse catching devices used by all the services.

At first, the spokesman said he wasn't up on the mousetrap situation. But he'd look into it.

Sure enough, the number of trap styles had been pared from five to two—one for rats, one for mice.

Job For G. S. A.

Looking deeper, the official found that his agency had handed over the entire military rat-and-mouse trapping responsibility to the General Services Administration.

The GSA is the federal house-keeping agency. It buys office supplies, explosives and materials, public buildings and does a variety of chores for both civilian and military arms of the government.

The Defense Supply Agency shops for uniforms, auto parts and all sorts of similar equipment for the Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force.

Generally, federal agencies put off a fight before giving up any of their powers.

But not in this case. An inter-agency committee was drawn up simply to discuss the issue. And it was.

Congress Dispute May be Near End

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new exchange of communiques between the House and Senate Appropriations committees pointed today toward a possible quick truce in the prestige war between the two groups.

The controversy, revolving around procedural matters such as who should preside at joint meetings and who shall start the annual money bills, has put the government on emergency financial ration since the fiscal year started July 1.

The door to a possible settlement was opened a trifle Wednesday when the chairman of the two committees exchanged letters agreeing to a discussion of their differences. No date was set for a discussion session.

Government Stand Unchanged by Rally

Thousands of Saskatchewan Residents Protest Socialist Party's Medical Care Program

REGINA, Sask., (AP)—Premier Woodrow Lloyd and his cabinet are weighing a reply to a citizens rally petition for a new law to replace Saskatchewan's controversial medical care insurance plan.

But Lloyd said the rally Wednesday has not changed the Socialist provincial government's stand.

The demonstration brought several thousand persons from all parts of the province into the capital.

Committee organizers claimed a predicted 30,000 persons came into Regina for the rally. Police Chief A. G. Cookson estimated it at 15,000.

But Lloyd said it was no more than 3,000 and declared "the size of the crowd doesn't lend support to claims of overwhelming opposition to the government."

The placard-carrying demonstrators gathered in a picnic mood outside the provincial legislature buildings while a 12-man delegation from the keep-our-doctors sponsoring committee presented the petition to Lloyd and his aides.

The petition asked suspension of the medical care act that went into effect July 1 and precipitated the strike of doctors who said it opened the door to government control of the medical profession.

The plan, designed to provide medical care for everyone, is financed by single-person and family assessments of $12 and $24 a year and by general taxation.

Reply Promised

The delegation saw Lloyd for 10 minutes and was told that the government would reply to the petition as soon as possible.

Then the delegation joined the demonstrators outside for two hours of speeches.

The keep-our-doctors committee sought suspension of the medical care act to allow the striking doctors to return to normal service. This would be followed by negotiations between the government and the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons to draft a medical care act acceptable to everybody.

The committee said if the government refuses to suspend the act, dissolution of the legislature and a general election will be demanded.

The province had 700 practicing doctors when the act became effective. About 200 have been providing free emergency services at 35 of the province's 154 hospitals.

A government spokesman said 40 Saskatchewan doctors are practicing under the government plan.

A number of striking doctors have left the province—some going to Illinois, Montana and North Dakota—asserting they and their families have been threatened with violence.

Three Persons Killed as Car Strikes Trees

Green Bay Motorist Added to Wisconsin Highway Death Toll

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three Eau Claire County persons were killed and two others were injured early today when a car struck trees in Augusta.

The deaths raised Wisconsin's 1962 traffic toll to 441, compared with 433 on this date last year.

The victims were Gary Bauch, 18, Ron Feuling, 17 and Ernest Giebel, 65, all of Augusta and its area.

Reported in good condition at an Eau Claire hospital were Karen Kromrey, 18, of Fall Creek and James Brown Jr., 21, of Augusta.

Autos Were Racing

Authorities said Bauch was driving the car which was apparently racing with another auto toward Augusta from an outlying tavern when it left a curve on Highway 27 and struck three large trees in front of the high school.

Bauch was on leave from military service in Germany. The driver of the other car, an 18-year-old Augusta youth, was being held pending an investigation.

Kenneth Blahnik, 23, of Green Bay, died of a broken neck Wednesday when his car crashed through a guard rail on a road leading to a Brown County park, flipped over and slid 25 feet down an embankment to another road below. The crash occurred about

Goldwater, Miller Smoke 'Peace Pipe'

Republican Citizens Council Will Not Support Individuals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. William E. Miller (R-Nv.) said today organizers have pledged the National Republican Citizens Committee will not support any individual candidate for the 1964 party presidential nomination.

Miller, the GOP national chairman, and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, have smoked a peace pipe over the issue.

"Bill Miller is still my chairman," Goldwater said after a conference Wednesday. "But I still think the citizens committee will prove to be a divisive influence in the party."

Remain Cooperative

Miller said in a separate interview he and Goldwater remain cooperative, even though he supports the citizens group and the senator doesn't.

Goldwater's associates had been convinced that the citizens group was being organized to provide a vehicle to draft Richard M. Nixon, former vice president, for the presidential nomination if he wins the governorship of California in the November balloting.

They regarded the group as hostile to both the senator and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

Not so, said Miller. "It is clearly understood among all concerned that the citizens group will work in complete coordination with the national committee," he said. "There is the clear understanding that they will not support any particular candidate for the President or in the congressional elections, for that matter."

Miller indicated that the views of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had prevailed in establishing the citizens group.

Eisenhower is likely to be even more in demand as signs increase that President Kennedy intends to hit the campaign trail for Democratic candidates.

Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago said after a White House visit Wednesday that Kennedy will speak at a Democratic fund-raising dinner in Chicago Oct. 19.

Resistance to Radio Censorship Laws in Nicaragua Increasing

Ugly Feelings Building Up in Country Dominated by Somoza

BY GERRY ROBICHAUD
Chicago Daily News Service

MEXICO CITY — Mob resistance to Nicaragua's new radio censorship law underlines the ugly political mood that seems to be building up in the Somoza-dominated Central American country.

The mob, which virtually wrecked the Nicaraguan chamber of deputies in the capital city of Managua, demonstrated open antagonism to the Luis Somoza regime that rarely has been seen in the tightly controlled country, benefit of Foreign Minister Rene Varios. A armed revolutionary movements have sprung up from Somoza has chosen to succeed time to time, but as a rule the ordinary Nicaraguans genuinely were clean and free there would incensed over the attempt of President Luis Somoza to gag the radio stations.

Not Red-Inspired

To dismiss the angry demonstration as just another instance of Communist-led violence against existing Latin American governments would amount to ignoring the political situation that is developing in Nicaragua.

Travel Program Response Small

BY SYLVIA PORTER

On its first official birthday, the "Visit U. S. A." program—designed to increase the number of foreign visitors to this country from a trickle to a flood so we can earn a lot more from tourism and thereby help cut the deficit in our international financial accounts—is still in the "trickle" stage.

The program is alive, it's getting results in several directions, which is encouraging for the long range—but it's a success on only the most modest of scales. Yet today the need for giving the program a great forward push is greater than ever.

It was a year ago that Congress passed the International Travel Act of 1961 and set up our government's first official travel promotion agency, the U. S. Travel Service under the Dept. of Commerce. Many lofty motives were given for the step—such as "promoting friendly understanding and good will among people of foreign countries and of the United States"—but the primary motive was strictly money.

'Travel Gap' Large

For the difference between what Americans spent as foreign tourists and what foreigners spent as U. S. tourists (including the costs of their tickets) came to a towering $1.1 billion in 1961 alone.

This "travel gap" represented approximately 40 per cent of the total deficit in our balance of payments. Obviously if tourism here could be vastly expanded—doubled, tripled, quadrupled—the favorable impact on our balance of payments position could be enormous.

Thus, the USTS was created with a first-year budget of $2.5 million—peanuts compared with what other countries spent to promote tourism within their borders. Now what has happened and is happening to tourism?

16 Per Cent Use

In the first four months of 1962, overseas visitors to the U. S. rose 16 per cent over the comparable 1961 period to a total of 147,000. They spent an average of $520 each to give us a total revenue of $76.4 million. Visitors from France climbed 52 per cent; from Switzerland, 25 per cent; from the United Kingdom, 11 per cent, from Germany, 9 per cent.

On the other hand, visitors from Japan fell off 14 per cent, even though the USTS has set up an office in Tokyo. Japan's currency restrictions, virtually prohibit all but businessmen from traveling here, however, so spending time and money promoting U. S. travel to those who couldn't come no matter what their desires seem rather futile.

It's hardly an inspiring record, despite the fact that Voit Gilmore, USTS director, insists on stressing "the long-range nature" of the program. But there have been accomplishments.

The USTS has opened eight offices with multi-lingual staffs—in London, Paris, Frankfurt, Rome, Sao Paulo, Mexico City, Tokyo, Sydney; and it will open one in Bogota soon.

It has distributed 4.5 million pieces of literature all over the globe, in seven languages, and has started an advertising program aimed at convincing foreigners that traveling here can be inexpensive. This program has been sharply attacked as not only misleading but also dishonest. Sample from a recent ad in the Times of London: "Expenses for a party of four traveling by car includes food, sightseeing, and lodging in motels with swimming pools." FOUR people traveling by car getting all that in this country for less than $12 a day? Other samples from the ad: you will sleep at "Indian trading posts. . . Photograph bald eagles on the wing. . . For lunch, catch your own Chinook salmon and cut-throat trout. . . Go maple-sugaring. . . Watch an ox-pull. . . Eat Apple Pan Dowdy. . . Oh, well, Gilmore says that travel experts agreed a "Blockbuster of a campaign was needed to convince the British they could afford to come here," and they are receiving 300 inquiries a day at their London office.

Most importantly, it has sparked additional "Visit U. S. A." promotions and special economy deals by commercial organizations. It is spurring hotels, stores and banks throughout the U. S. to develop multi-lingual staffs for foreign tourists and it is making headway in slashing the red tape which repels foreigners from the start.

Says Gilmore, "World travel habits cannot be changed in one season—and the U. S. has much homework still to do for the proper handling of our rising tide of visitors."

Correction, Mr. Gilmore: It's a rising trickle now. That "rising tide" is yet to come, and farther off still is the flood.

The Annual Crime Report—What It Means

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has released his annual report on crime in the United States and some people may wonder what good is accomplished by this annual listing of the number of major crimes in this country, the trends over previous years, who committed them, etc.

This Mr. Hoover explains in the preface to the report:

"Crime is a social problem and a community responsibility which crosses all walks of life. . . . Crime, like a disease, can only be treated after identification and full exposure. It cannot be erased by employing different and less repugnant terms for criminal acts, thus, in a sense, defining them out of existence."

Readers sometimes ask why newspapers are so diligent in reporting crime news. "Why can't you find something good to write about?" they comment.

Mr. Hoover has stated our basic reasoning quite well for us. We are continually attempting to emphasize the principle of community responsibility for crime.

He concludes:

"Although the responsibility for reversing our crime trend is vested in the entire community, law enforcement fulfills its obligation by effectively carrying out its traditional role and by taking the leadership in directing community attention to specific crime problems, including public indifference."

And we comment that the local newspaper not only supplements police leadership in this field, but also agitates for the best police protection a community can afford and for swift justice for convicts in the courts.

There are some ugly statistics in Mr. Hoover's report.

Major crimes again reached an all-time high with a three per cent increase over 1960. Our national population has increased seven per cent during the last five years and crime has jumped 34 per cent.

Mr. Hoover called particular attention to the continuing increase in crimes committed by young people under 18 years of age where a four per cent rise was noted over 1960. Young male arrests outnumbered female arrests better than six to one, but again arrests of girls continued to increase faster in 1961 than young male arrests with a rise of seven per cent. As a group, persons under 18 years of age represented 43 per cent of all arrests for the more serious offenses of murder, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny and auto theft.

And he stated: "The increasing participation by our young people in vicious crimes year after year continues as one of the major problems plaguing law enforcement. Failure to reverse this trend could result in serious consequences for the future of our country."

The report points out finally that despite the continuing difficulties and hazards of police work and the increased total of serious crimes, the number of police employees per 1,000 inhabitants remained unchanged from 1960.

"It appears from these figures," Mr. Hoover concludes, "that we have yet to learn as a Nation that law enforcement is everybody's business, and that crime can only be curtailed by effective law enforcement agencies backed by aroused citizens."

The Insurance Inquiry

In a state where officers have sometimes been heard to utter self-congratulatory statements about the quality of state government supervision and regulation of insurance companies, there must be some curiosity about the recent failures of some of the carriers.

Insurance Commissioner Manson at Madison has announced that he has retained special counsel to make an investigation of the circumstances of these cases, and the methods of operations of some of the underwriting companies, at the direction of the governor.

What the public will find difficult to understand is how these firms could have gotten into their serious difficulties, with losses to policyholders and in some instances expensive special assessments, if the statutory state audit procedures were being met. In some respects, this inquiry seems to have come too late.

There's No Place to Hide

Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, speaking at commencement exercises at the University of Michigan in June, outlined what has been termed a new military policy agreed upon at a NATO meeting in Athens the month before.

"The United States has come to the conclusion that to the extent feasible, basic military strategy in a possible general nuclear war should be approached in much the same way that more conventional military operations have been regarded in the past. That is to say, principal military objectives, in the event of nuclear war stemming from a major attack on the alliance, should be the destruction of the enemy's military forces, not of his civilian population."

This idea, which has been tagged the "no cities" strategy, caused an uproar in France and England who felt it threatened their own sovereignty in the international organization at a time when they are striving to maintain independent nuclear forces. There was little reaction in the United States.

Actually Secretary McNamara's statement is primarily a political one and has little military significance. Something can be said from a military standpoint for a scorched earth philosophy but in this century it is better to stand for a more humane outlook. However, the practical application of such a philosophy is almost impossible. The so-called "indiscriminate" bombing of cities and civilian populations in World War II was often directed at military targets, not simply to terrorize women and children. Germany did aim at trying to reduce England to a state of submission through the bombing and later the rocket attacks upon its principal cities. But trying to separate the two in retaliation was about as impossible as the early British insistence that they were at war with the Nazi regime, not the German people.

Secretary McNamara showed a further reason for the "no cities" strategy announcement in another statement.

"The very strength and nature of the alliance forces makes it possible for us to retain, even in the face of massive surprise attack, sufficient reserve power to destroy an enemy society if driven to it. In other words we are giving a possible opponent the strongest imaginative incentive to refrain from striking our own cities."

This is John Foster Dulles' policy of "massive retaliation" in a slightly different context. But Sec. McNamara is far too intelligent a man to believe that the Soviet Union, if it attacks the United States, would refrain from trying to wipe out our cities or to knock us completely out at one blow. Nor can he believe that we could carry on a nuclear war without destroying civilians. The major aim might be the military objectives; but in today's dreadfully developed military power there are no non-combatants.

Trying to establish some sort of civilized rules for something which is in itself a tremendous denial of civilization is an impossibility.

Candy in School Lunchrooms

The principal function of the school lunchroom is to provide training in sound food habits. For that reason sale of confections and beverages in lunchrooms, recreation rooms and other school facilities is opposed by the council on foods and nutrition of the American Medical Assn.

While it is well to provide for milk, fruits and other foods in the school lunch group are much superior in nutritional value to confections and carbonated beverages, most children will select the inferior articles if they are available.

This seems like a trifling matter but the American Medical Assn. has gone to considerable expense to broadcast this information to schools and to persons responsible for school lunchrooms. Those who want children to be well nourished do not tempt them away from nutritional foods before lunch time.

Proportional Voting Favored by Congress

From the Portland Oregonian

At least one of the major reasons for the failure of the United States to win the 1958 election for the division of seats in the Senate was the failure of the electoral college system. The electoral college system is the most criticized feature of the system. It gives the power of the larger states, in which a difference of a few votes may mean the gain or loss of a large bloc of electoral votes. Such a change would insure that the winner of a majority of the popular vote would also win a majority of the electoral votes. This is the principle of proportional voting.

Cautionary Word
The House of Representatives has passed a bill to change the electoral college system. The bill would give each state one vote for every 100,000 people, plus two additional votes for each state. This would give the smaller states more influence in the election of the President.

Think of 'Little Man' Before Ruining Fishing on Wolf River

Editor, Post-Crescent:

According to the late papers, a planning commission is about to start work on the Wolf River Program. I think it is time for the "little man" to speak out. At February's meeting in Appleton, two individuals rose and suggested dredging the Wolf from Shawano to New London to make it navigable by big boats, probably in the 50 to 100 horsepower class. Now wouldn't that be just dandy. "Little man," can't you see yourself bobbing like a cork everytime a big boat speeds by pulling a couple of water skiers? You're sitting there soaking a minnow or worm and your anchor or pulled loose by the pitch of the boat so you have to reel in — haul anchor — reposition your boat — drop anchor — cast out again — and oh, oh, here comes another one. But if the river is dredged and "do-snagged" what would you be fishing for? Pheasants, rabbit and deer all need cover for survival, be it corn fields, willow brush or cedar swamp. Now doesn't it sound reasonable that fish need those snags and overhanging trees for the same purpose?

Moved Fishing Site

There are about four or five families from Illinois who fished at Fremont for 15 years. But since the dredging there, they have purchased river frontage at Shiocton because fishing at Fremont was no longer a pleasure.

Also, by removing the snags and fallen trees you'd be helping to defeat something you're trying to correct. Every tree hanging in the river helps to slow the water. Remove them and the river flow will increase. When it comes to the next sharp bend, it just slams into it a little harder, carrying a little more bank with it to silt the Winnebago. So you'd have to haul in some stone or build protecting walls to stop that. Then after considerable "study and thinking" by arm chair conservationists, you'd have to sink fish shelters such as brush piles or old cars to provide protection. Anybody affording a 50-horse-

Submariners Licensed Then Forbidden to Sail in Ohio Waters

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Ohio has watercraft licenses for row boats and canoes, inboard and outboard motorboats. But how do you license a submarine?

The problem stumbled Mrs. Louise West, registrar at Lake Cowan. Two boaters had built a two-man submarine, manually controlled and powered by a battery.

State Park officials got into the act. A special meeting was called and after much discussion, a submarine classification was created.

The boaters received their license but were then prohibited from using their creation in state waters.

Park officials had further figured that the sub came under the general classification of SCUBA diving—which is banned in Ohio lakes. The men will have to settle for quarries or Lake Erie.

Choking Victim Says, 'It's Really Nothing'

ST PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The woman's voice on the telephone asking for help was so muffled that police got the wrong address.

It took them several minutes to find the right house.

When they got there, the woman who made the call thanked them for coming but told them it was really nothing and they weren't needed.

"Don't feel bad about getting the wrong address," she said. "You see, he was choking me when I called and I couldn't speak very clearly."

Oleo Tax 'Sacred Cow'; Kuehn Wants Repeal

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — When Philip Kuehn announced his plans for his gubernatorial campaign following his endorsement by the Republican party convention, he pledged that he would speak out plainly on the issues. His forthright denunciation of the 30-year-old Wisconsin oleomargarine tax is perhaps as dramatic a proof of his willingness to make good on that pledge as could be devised.

There is no more sacred cow in Wisconsin political affairs than the embargo on margarine which dates from the depression period more than a generation ago when a legislature dominated by the dairy interest naively thought it was a means of protecting the market for butter, one of the basic by-products of the Wisconsin milk industry.

Perhaps not a dozen persons in state politics really believe that the levy is either effective, with regard to its original purpose, or fair, or wise, in the competitive economic society in which Wisconsin must perform. Yet it remains on the books, contemptuously evaded, privately derided, but technically in force. One of the ironies of the situation is that the tax that was intended to be an embargo has actually become a revenue producer. Some persons who use margarine pay the tax on it and it has become an identifiable item of revenue in the state budget.

Kuehn got to the heart of the matter when he said in a campaign speech in a rural locality the other day that instead of aiding the dairy farmer, as the legislature so many years ago ingeniously intended, the oleo tax is very likely damaging his economic interest today.

"The tax is hurting our farmers because it is the biggest single stumbling block in knocking down trade barriers between Wisconsin and other states. We are in a poor position to seek the free flow of milk across state lines if we don't make this free flow a two-way street," he said.

It is a useful point to repeat, when the farmer hopes that a single state can protect the national butter market by legislating against a substitute product.

The most concrete boon the Wisconsin dairyman could gain today would be the right to ship his surplus milk into distant city markets from which it is now barred, on one pretext or another. Wisconsin congressmen have clamored in vain against such artificial barriers for years, and so many of two them have become professional agitators on the subject although they know they don't have the slightest chance of passing such legislation in the congress. One reason is that the dairy bloc in the congress is comparatively small, and friendless. One of the reasons why it cannot get the interest of other regional congressional delegations — such as the South — is the stubborn adherence to such prejudiced positions as is represented by the ineffectual but nonetheless damaging margarine embargo.

KUEHN ENTERPRISE
Kuehn doubtless had the interest of the urban consumer in mind when he denounced the oleo tax, although he couched it in terms suggesting that the beneficiary of its repeal would be the dairy producer.

Here he shows more awareness of the voting balance of the state than do many of his colleagues and associates in Republican politics, including the men who run the Republican-controlled legislature.

There was a fairly strong drive for the repeal of the margarine tax in the first session of the 1961 legislature. It was stopped by a filibuster by a rural Republican, J. E. Leverich of Sparta, in the closing hours of the state senate session, the record shows. Technically that is the correct explanation of the incident. Actually, if the Republican legislative leadership had wanted the repealer to pass, it could have been arranged. The truth is that the average politician is not yet persuaded that it is the politically expedient thing to do.

Wainwright Horse Whip Presented to Museum

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Hair from the tail of a favorite mount of the late Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, made into a fancy riding whip by an Army sergeant, is now on display in the Kansas State Museum.

Back in the 1930's Wainwright, then a colonel, was master of the hunt at the famed Cavalry School at Fort Riley near Junction City, Kan. In charge of the hounds was a technical sergeant, Alonzo Teasley.

Teasley, an expert leather worker, made a whip handle and then fashioned on it nearly 22 inches of horse's hair, all taken from Wainwright's mount.

Recently Teasley died and his administrator presented the whip to the museum. With it went a picture of Teasley and his colonel, who later became Gen. Wainwright, hero of Corregidor in World War II.

Looking Backward

Wisconsin Officer Under Arrest

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for July 10, 1962.

Col. Halbert E. Paine, of the 4th Wisconsin, is under arrest at Baton Rouge for refusing to obey a brutal order framed to evade the law forbidding the military return of fugitive slaves. A correspondent of the Madison Journal says:

"I heard today, news from the Wisconsin 4th, which makes me cry out, 'How long shall such things be?'"

Col. Paine was placed under arrest recently by Gen. Williams for refusal to carry out orders on the "miscegenation" question.

Two colored men came with him, bringing valuable information. On being ordered to exclude them, Col. Paine complied. Soon after they made their appearance with backs covered by their master's licks and wearing the best three-piece iron coat of armor.

When ordered again to turn over these loyals to the tender mercies of traitors, Col. Paine declined to execute the barbarous order and was deprived of his sword and placed under arrest. When he appeared on parade without his decorations, the regiment gave three cheers and as many groans for Williams, and were as near mutiny as possible.

"I shall Wisconsin soldiers be put to such base uses without a word of remonstrance?"

Viet Nam War Compared to French Struggle

Military Advisers Learn Frustrations Of Guerrilla Warfare

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—While briefing officers speak of the Vietnamese war with "cautious optimism," American military advisers are quietly reading a book banned by President Ngo Diem's regime.

The book, Albert Fall's "Street Without Joy," is a history of the bloody and futile effort by the French to win the Indochina war in those same jungles eight years ago.

"Why, they did the same things we're doing," an American major said in shocked tones.

He had just arrived from an armor training camp in Texas and had not yet learned how war in South Viet Nam grinds up men and frustrates American military minds.

Need New Wrinkle
Dressed in immaculate khaki, American advisers arrive convinced that more helicopters or a new wrinkle such as armored amphibious troop carriers will put the seal of death on the Viet Cong guerrillas.

They expect to work with Vietnamese officers of the quality and spirit of those in the armies America is allied with in Europe.

Then, as they stand sweating in the stinking jungle, the Americans watch thousands of Vietnamese troops drive deep into guerrilla territory in American helicopters or U.S. river boats—and in long operations kill a handful of Reds.

Die Needlessly
The Americans see brave, smiling little Vietnamese troopers battle through the jungle and guerrillas for days on a bag of rice and then die needlessly as a result of fumbling leadership.

At this point the Americans begin to talk of a war lasting several years. They say the aim of warfare is to kill or capture the enemy, but speak more and more of the value of "keeping the Viet Cong on the run."

Some Americans express conviction that the war cannot be won unless President Diem's government wins the active support of a majority of the South Vietnamese.

In Hushed Tones
The Americans speak in hushed tones of seeing prisoners summarily executed and of finding bodies of women and children in a village burned by napalm dropped from planes the United States has sent in.

How, they ask, can the allegiance of the people be won under these conditions?

Everyone in South Viet Nam speaks of the need for social and economic progress for the peasant and villager to counter the promises of the Communists.

No "Reform" Yet
Some American officials don't use the word "reform" because that disturbs the government. In contrast with eight months ago when the United States committed the first of 8,000 advisers now in South Viet Nam, nobody speaks publicly of pressuring Diem into granting "progress."

Now, American officials say Diem's government seems aware of the need for progress and that it will come as soon as the security situation improves.

West Berlin Prosperity Growing Despite Wall

BY VICTOR RIESEL

Millions read of West Berlin each day. They cheer it. They are ready to fight for it. But only a few of us have been fortunate enough to get within an arm's distance of the Wall. And even fewer have sat in the office of Mayor Willy Brandt in the old City Hall that was once only a "county" seat and talked of the city's heartache.

It is an ache, one soon learns from Mayor Willy, that springs not out of any fear for itself but of anguish over those from whom it has been slashed by Khrushchev's concrete knife.

Recently I asked Herr Brandt to tell me of the West Berlin prosperity, which has grown in the year since that night there in Berlin when we learned of the strands of barbed wire soon to turn into the outer wall of the Eastern concentration camp. Here is what Willy Brandt wrote to me:

By Willy Brandt
Mayor of West Berlin

There are many reasons why the Communists last August sealed off East Berlin with a wall of barbed wire and concrete blocks, making a vast prison camp of East Berlin and the Soviet Zone of Germany. Among these reasons, perhaps the most important of all, was to put an end to the mass exodus of young people and skilled workers, the lifeblood of a country's economy.

Young Skilled Workers

Many people are aware of the fact that three million persons escaped from Communist terror in the so-called German Democratic Republic before the Wall went up. But what is sometimes forgotten is that fully half of these were under 25 years of age! And one-third of them were skilled workers!

This flight of youth and skilled workers is irrefutable proof of the ultimate bankruptcy of Communism, not only politically but economically as well. After all, Communism is portrayed by its proponents as the paradise of the worker. The lesson of Berlin is that whenever the worker is given a free choice, he will choose freedom.

The same can be said of youth. It appears that no amount of brainwashing can remove the drive for freedom among young people. One should not forget that these young people of East Germany never knew freedom until they crossed the sector border into West Berlin. For nearly 30 years, the people of the Soviet Zone have lived in slavery, first under the Nazis, then under the Communists. The bray of radio propaganda and the screams of the giant slogans across the roads could not loosen the magnetic pull of freedom.

We in West Berlin are proud of our city's role as a magnet, proud of the fact that more than any other people, we stand as a living symbol for freedom. This does not mean that the Wall does not make us sad; of course it does. But still we believe that the day will come when there will no longer be a wall, when there will be a single, unified Berlin within the framework of a single, unified Germany.

In working toward that day, our job in Berlin is to preserve our freedom, expand our economy and continue to develop our city as an attractive place in which to live and work and as a home for the arts and sciences. When the Communists put up the Wall, they proved to the world that this would bring about the downfall of our city. They were mistaken, as they have been so often in the past.

Although the Wall did close off the escape route to freedom for millions of people, it could not undermine confidence in the future of the city. Industrial orders received by West Berlin, still the largest industrial city between Paris and Moscow, have not declined. More money is going into savings accounts than is being withdrawn. Savings on deposit in November 1960 totaled $442 million, but by November 1961 they had climbed to $490 million.

Many thousands of skilled workers from West Germany have applied for jobs in West Berlin, some 7,000 already have found permanent positions. For several months now, more people have come to West Berlin than have left. This fact is most significant. When the Wall went up, the West Berlin labor market lost more than 60,000 wage earners. This represents the number of East German "border crossers" who, until Aug. 13, 1961, passed the sector borders each day from East Berlin and neighboring areas of East Germany to work in West Berlin.

Because of an increase in efficiency and productivity and because of the flow of workers from West Germany, industrial output has continued to increase, even after Aug. 13, 1961. For instance, in April 1962, production in the processing industries was up 3.4 per cent over the same month in 1961. During the same period, production of consumer goods rose 6.6 per cent. In the year the Wall went up, 1961, capital spending in West Berlin increased 10.9 per cent over pre-Wall 1960.

All this points up a degree of confidence in the economic viability of West Berlin that must have confounded Premier Khrushchev and his agents in East Germany. Not only are more workers coming, but they are showing that they mean to stay. Our population is actually increasing. And so many young people in West Berlin have decided to start families that license bureaus have to handle long waiting lines for marriage applications.

Confidence Shown

This confidence in West Berlin is being demonstrated not only by the young and adventurous but also by the seasoned and cautious. More and more hard-headed American businessmen are opening up enterprises in West Berlin. Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith opened a branch office in Berlin after the Wall was built. Yale & Towne recently announced it will open a plant in Berlin; other American firms are expected to follow suit.

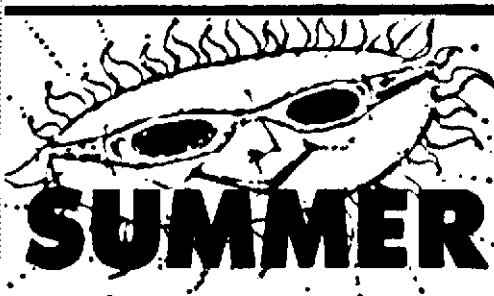

Our Western allies, notably the United States, along with the government of West Germany have been helping not only with words but with deeds. Shortly after Aug. 13, 1961, the Government in Bonn set aside about $125 million to help us speed our long-range planning and to provide vacation money for every West Berliner. And, beginning July 1, the Federal Government is providing tax benefits and capital credits on a wider scale to boost West Berlin as an attractive place to work and to locate new industries.

Our government in West Berlin is equally confident. We recently voted $76 million to expand transportation, recreation and cultural facilities in 1963 an increase of $6 million over the sum planned for 1962.

The point is clear and basic. We believe in ourselves; we believe in our government in Bonn; we believe in the Western alliance, particularly the United States. It is the truth that makes man free. But the Wall is physical proof of a lie. It proves the claim that Communism is a workable paradise is false. And history has proved that a Lie can never destroy the Truth.

Heart Trouble Costs Slayton His Solo Flight Space Wings

38-Year-Old Air Force Major
Faces Prospect of Ground Duty

WASHINGTON (AP)—Astronaut mission might be the last on the Donald K. (Deke) Slayton has lost schedule for 1962 his solo flight space wings because of heart trouble.

The 38-year-old Air Force major, a former jet test pilot, bowed reluctantly Wednesday to the prospect of ground duty in Project Mercury. This will involve engineering and planning work on the Mercury, Gemini and Apollo projects and other programs of the Manned Spacecraft Center at Houston.

Gemini Possible
James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said Slayton is not definitely ruled out of participation in the two-man Gemini and three-man Apollo flights that will follow the one-man Mercury experiments.

"We are not crossing every bridge in the future," Webb said. The decision on Slayton virtually assures an Air Force colleague, Maj. Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr., of an early try at space travel. Cooper, 35, will may be the next astronaut aloft after the forthcoming 6-orbit attempt of Navy Cmdr. Walter M. Schirra Jr. Schirra's flight is tentatively planned for early September and the Cooper tag team transmission line.

Sparta Intends to Continue Honoring
Its Famous Son

CHICAGO (Daily News Service)—Sparta's signs will still proclaim it "The Home of Astronaut Donald K. Slayton." Five such signs were ordered by the Wisconsin community after its native son was selected to make America's second orbital flight.

Spartans posted the first sign on the western city limits, even after Slayton was sidelined by a heart flutter and Scott Carpenter took his place. The second was scheduled to be posted on the eastern city limits next week.

Heart Flutter
"It still will be," said Harold O. Thoban, head of the Sparta, Chamber of Commerce, shortly after the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Wednesday that Slayton's persistent heart flutter has grounded him permanently.

"We're just as proud of him today as we were yesterday," Thoban said.

As the news spread through Sparta, the grounded astronaut was "out fishing somewhere" with his family. Slayton's brother, Howard, told the Chicago Daily News by phone.

Howard Slayton, who runs the family farm in nearby Leon, said "Deke" (for the initials D. K.) arrived home Friday with his wife, Marjorie, and son, Ken, 5, for a visit with his parents, Charles and Victoria Slayton.

Big Disappointment
Mayor Ralph Osborne heard the news about Slayton over the radio at his Sparta dime store.

"I know how much it meant to him to make the next flight," the mayor said. "It's a big disappointment to us and to him. But we'll all have to accept it."

Osborne said he was glad Sparta went ahead with celebration plans last May, despite the fact that Slayton had just been scratched from the second space flight.

On that occasion, between 15,000 and 20,000 persons knew he was home and came to welcome him in the town of 6,200.

This time, said Osborne, "they've kept it quiet he was back."

GOP Looks for Court Victory On Redistricting

nature of the case started by the Democratic attorney general.

Reynolds, meanwhile, has become the target of increasingly acid debate. Yesterday Republican legislators took turns deriding him as "Available John", "Sonny Boy", and "that comedian in the attorney general's office", among other things.

But there was action scheduled on other fronts today and Friday. Today's activity centered around Reynolds, who filed the action that brought a panel of three federal judges into the dispute.

Reynolds said he planned to ask the state Circuit Court here to compel State Treasurer Dena Smith to approve a $3,500 check to pay the cost of the federal action.

Mrs. Smith, a Republican, stopped payment on the check last Monday, contending the use of the money was not "a proper expenditure" under state law.

The federal panel's special master, named in a precedent-making decision, will hold his second hearing on Friday.

The Republican majorities in the State Senate and Assembly decided on the week-long recess to await Nelson's action an alternate bill realigning congressional districts. The lawmakers, meeting in special session, and the governor fought to a deadlock over earlier plans to reapportion congressional and legislative districts.

The Legislature completed action on the congressional reapportionment bill and sent it to the governor Wednesday, giving him permission to sign a typewritten copy. The lawmakers then recessed until next Wednesday.

Non-Catholics Get Invitation to Council

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Roman Catholic Church has sent out invitations to non-Catholic churches and church federations to send observers to its Ecumenical Council, scheduled here Oct. 11.

Protestant observers never before have been invited to a world-wide gathering of the Roman Catholic hierarchy.

A Vatican spokesman declined to say how many observers are being asked to attend or what churches had been invited.

In Geneva the World Council of Churches, the Lutheran World Federation and the World Presbyterian Alliance announced receipt of invitations. They were asked to submit names of the observers by the end of June — "one or two" from the World Council, "two or three" from the Presbyterian Alliance.

Bulk of Bell's Estate Left to His Three Sons

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Lt. Gov. Rex Bell left the bulk of his estate to two sons and made no bequest to his widow, former movie star Clara Bow.

In a will filed for probate Wednesday, Bell's estate was estimated only as "in excess of $10,000."

The will, dated Nov. 17, 1961, mentioned Miss Bow, the onetime can candidate for governor of Nevada, only in a clause de vada at the time of his death clearing, "I am married to Clara July 4."

Bow Bell but we have lived separate and apart for many years.

Miss Bow has lived in seclusion for 10 years or more in the Los Angeles area. However, she came out last Monday to attend a second funeral service for Bell, conducted in Glendale, Calif. The initial rites were conducted in Las Vegas.

Miss Bow drew top fees as a star in movies of the 1920s and 1930s and with a fortune in her own right.

Bell was an announced Republican candidate for governor of Nevada, only in a clause de vada at the time of his death clearing, "I am married to Clara July 4."

Possible Guides for Best Investments

BY THOMAS COLLINS

Many of you who are planning retirement are chewing your pencils as you try to figure out the smartest investment for the dollars you've saved. It is a bigger decision for you than for most people because (1) you probably aren't going to have the chance to save any more, and (2) the interest or dividends from what you have can be a significant addition to a retirement income.

Many of you have your money in "growth stocks" in the stock market. Many of you have it tucked away in savings accounts, or won't at 3 per cent interest. Most of you are somewhere between the two.

Here are two case histories that may be a guide for you: "My wife and I set up a major things go. We had $2,200 in a retirement goal in 1955, which savings account at the bank, pay seven years ago. We would ing 2 1/2 per cent interest, and $3,000 by the time 1962. Then 4 per cent. We were going to buy a trailer or corporation bonds at 4 per cent and head south, to park it in cent return and be assured $100 the sunshine. Our retirement in a month for life. This was just come came to only $182 a month, what we needed, on top of the $15,000 housing was too rich pension and Social Security, to for an old couple with that kind make us comfortable.

Stock Investment "We went into the stock market, with the advice of a good and respected broker. We began putting all we could save into of that, the $2,200 from the bank, 'growth' issues on the theory that and the $3,100 from the S & L. we could not save $30,000 in sev- for a total of $15,300. Then we put en years and thus would have to $10,000 of it in one savings and choose stocks that would enhance loan association at 4 1/2 per cent in value. "Things went well. Altogether, we had put $23,600 of our money wanted Federally insured associ- into stocks by the fall of 1961, and found that accounts are insured only up to $10,000. "Interest paid by savings and loan associations varies from state to state. The couple investi- gated to find where 4 1/2 per cent was paid, and put their money 800 miles away from the spot where they parked their trailer. "The 4 1/2 per cent interest from our $15,300 came to $57 a month, it wouldn't vary. It wouldn't de- cline. It was insured for safety. "The $57 added to our $182 pension ring at 10.45, will be conducted gave us handsome living in our by Rev. M. E. Twelt, Lawler, Ia. paid-for trailer. "The church, built 35 years ago. Amherst Church To Celebrate 35th Anniversary AMHERST — Our Savior Lutheran Church, New Hope, east of Nelsonville, will celebrate the 35th anniversary of the church Sun- day, July 15th. at that time the value of the stocks was $31,200. "Then the price of the stocks we owned began to go down. By June 1 — my retirement day — the $31,200 was down to $21,020. We didn't dare hold on to see if prices would go back up — the stock market still was acting crazy. We sold out put our money into bonds at 4 per cent, for $70 a month instead of the $100 a month we had wanted. "The $30 difference won't wreck us. But the fact that we lost one-third of what we had in the last six months before re- tirement was enough to scare the stock market has been kind to nearly everybody for the last 10 years. In the six months prior to this man's retirement it wasn't market. Many of you have it tucked away in savings accounts, or won't at 3 per cent interest. Most of you are somewhere between the two.

Lawrence Says Peace Talks Aid Economic Considerations

Development Decade Theme of Discussion At United Nations

By DAVID LAWRENCE
GENEVA — There's a curious assumption prevalent at the conference of the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations which has just opened here. It is that peace lies ahead. Nobody doubts the possibility of war, but almost everybody discounts the probability.

Lawrence

Planning, therefore, becomes ambitious. The "development decade" in the world, which is the theme of discussion here, involves a global concept of such challenging scope that it defies the imagination. The talk, of course, is of the help that the "better developed" countries can give to the "underdeveloped." But as has often been pointed out, even some of the larger countries like the United States do not concede that they have reached the top stage of their development. Like these so-called "underdeveloped" areas do not all need the same kind of aid or technical assistance, since their resources and aptitudes differ. The word but by the lack of knowledge that Paul Hoffman, managing director of the United Nations Special Fund, uses to describe the task tactfully is "modernization."

Conflict With Theory
But in taking a look around the world, some practicalities come in conflict with mere theory. Where is the money to come from? The plans of the specialized U. N. agencies in the fields of economic and scientific and social development — which are together beginning a month's intensive study here of these phases — cannot be fulfilled unless the financial sinews are available. The main answer is that money will come largely from "soft" loans — long term and at low interest to economic studies and discussions about how to make the different countries of the world more productive of goods and services. This is a healthy turn.

There is a tendency of course, faith in the preservation and in mere grants of charity will do the trick in terms of continents, the continuation of economic and social progress by investing in education and training. Much the younger generations who, in the persons with the best stress is laid upon it in the discussions here. But as one observer pointed out, geography unfortunately doesn't solve the problem. Some countries within one and the same continent do not have the same and there less developed countries may be more in common between the nations in Africa which have reached a certain stage of development and certain states in Central America, than between the larger and smaller countries in each continent. It is the stage of evolution, rather than the location of the countries, that becomes germane to any overall plan of organized assistance.

Abstract Thinking
There is no harm in abstract thinking or in objective discussion. It is, in fact, reassuring to find the world turning from nearly everywhere is conceded. The need for economic help due to the fallout shelters and possible devastation by nuclear war, Thant said this week to the meeting of the U. N.'s Economic and Social Council.

Appeal to Faith
The United Nations development decade is an appeal to our faith in the preservation and in mere grants of charity will do the trick in terms of continents, the continuation of economic and social progress by investing in education and training. Much the younger generations who, in the persons with the best stress is laid upon it in the discussions here. But as one observer pointed out, geography unfortunately doesn't solve the problem. Waupaca Man Fined $75 for Driving Too Fast

WAUPACA—Clifford J. Nelson, 21, 706 Holbeck St., Waupaca, was fined $75 and costs Tuesday when he appeared before Municipal Judge George Whalen on a charge of driving too fast for conditions.

Nelson pleaded guilty.

City police testified Nelson drove his car into Ted's Phillips 66 gas station at 12:17 a.m. July 5. The car struck the right corner and glass-metal door on the service station causing extensive damages.

The police report said there were no skid marks to indicate Nelson tried to stop the car. Nelson said he did not have time to apply his brakes. He said he hit the curb and the next thing he knew he was in a tangle of glass and metal.

Wife's Car Hits Her Hubby's; They Get Scare of a Lifetime

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (AP) — The George Millers were driving from Stites Sound, N.J., to California tracks. Only the back of the car was grazed by the train.

The Millers took time out to re-med on the brakes.

Mrs. Miller could not stop in time and smashed into the rear of her husband's car, which bounced forward in front of the incoming locomotive with enough momentum to almost clear the tracks.

Miller started to cross a rail cover from a bad case of the road crossing in Effingham, saw shakes, then headed west again—the warning gates drop and jam further apart.

One case contains 15 baseballs from victories Stagg pitched for Yale as the greatest collegiate hurler of his era.

In the traditional place of honor on the mantle stands the plaque from the National Football Coaches Association, which makes its annual presentation in his name.

Since suffering a knee injury in a fall early this year, Stagg has been confined to a convalescent hospital. His failing eyesight prohibits watching football games any more, yet he retains his interest and isn't among those from yesteryear who knock the game off today.

Better Game

Recently, this patriarch of American athletics, stated, "I don't think there is too much emphasis put on football now and I do believe it is a better game than when I was at Chicago."

He does feel there is too much emphasis on recruiting players.

When coaching, Stagg taught when her 20-foot putt hit the back of the cup and bounced out. They halved it in pars, then Becca won the 32nd when Helen ran into trap beat yourself.

He remembers the playing days of some of his great University of Chicago men. Quarterback Walter Eckersall, an All-America in 1904-05-06, proved one of his best.

"I believe I contributed something to Eckersall," Stagg says in reminiscing. "But he had great natural skill."

The long list of Stagg alumni numbers in thousands including congressmen, judges, surgeons and military leaders.

Stagg's lasting contributions to football strategy include the fore-runner to the modern wingback formations, delayed handoffs, man in motion, T formation and fake kick.

He first started numbering jerseys to aid spectators and in 1889 rolled up a gymnasium mat at Yale to devise the first tackling dummy.

In this year of his 100th birthday, the University of Chicago conducts a scholarship program in his name. At University of the Pacific in Stockton, the Stagg Foundation is raising funds for a physical fitness center.

Amos Alonzo Stagg was the fifth of eight children born to a cobbler's wife in West Orange, N.J. The Civil War raged when he came into the world on Aug. 16, 1862.

Portland, Ore. (AP) — Home runs by Max Alvis and Dave Ricketts sparked an eight-inning rally which earned the Pacific Coast League All-Stars to a 6-5 victory over the Los Angeles Angels Wednesday night.

Both homers came off Tom Morgan, who had just relieved Rob Botz. Morgan hit Spokane's Red Graber with a pitch, then watched a 5-3 Angel lead vanish on the blast by Salt Lake City's Alvis.

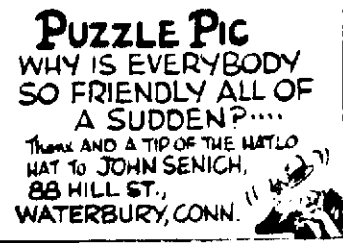

Fired of Season

Ricketts' Portland catcher, followed with his first home run of the season.

The Angels scored two un-earned runs in the second after San Diego's Tom Harper fumbled a ground ball.

They added another in the third on Alvis' Pearson's home run. Spokane's Nate Oliver then homered off Angel starter Ryne Duren to make it 3-1.

The Angels pulled ahead 5-3 in the top of the eighth as pinch-hitter Felix Torres followed Joe Koppe's single with a home run off Vancouver's Jackie Collum.

Police Warn Junk Dealers

Action Threatened If Three Don't Comply With Law

Three Appleton junk dealers who are without licenses to operate have been sent warning letters by Police Chief Earl Wolff. Chief Wolff said he told the three that they are in violation of city ordinance if they are operating without a license, and that if they continue to operate his men will gather evidence against them and they will be taken to court.

The three are J. Golper Co., 425 S. Bounds St., Brudnick Structural Steel, 605 S. Bounds St., and Harold Shumovitz, 1818 Reeve St. Their applications for license renewals were refused by the city council because they did not meet fire and health department specifications, and have not complied with the recommendations of those departments. The council said the licenses would be granted if and when they comply.

An inspection of the junk yards Tuesday showed little if any improvement in removing hazardous conditions, authorities said today. City Atty. Fred Froehlich said the city ordinance imposes a fine of not more than $10 a day for each day of violation.

The three dealers' licenses expired at midnight June 30. The dealers are supposed to notify the city clerk's office if and when they comply with fire and health department orders so that new inspections can be made. Then their new licenses will be issued.

Awarded 2,199 Times

Medal of Honor Was Created 100 Years Ago

WASHINGTON (AP) — A century ago today President Lincoln signed legislation for presentation of Medals of Honors to Army men who distinguished themselves in battle "during the present rebellion."

Since then, the highest military decoration—for valor above and beyond the call of duty—has been awarded 2,199 times to Army men who fought in nine big or little wars.

There are 176 living who wear the famous medal and two of that select company were chosen to mark the anniversary today by laying wreaths on the Tomb of the Unknowns in Arlington National Cemetery. The unknowns of World War I and II and of the Korea fighting have been awarded the medal.

Decorated for Valor

Selected to place the wreaths were Army Capt. Ola L. Mize, Ft. Benning, Ga., and Luther Skaggs, Washington. Mize was decorated for valor while a Marine private in Korea. Skaggs, national chairman of the Medal of Honor Society, won his honor as a private in World War II. He led an assault against the Japanese on Guam.

When the Medal of Honor was created on Dec. 21, 1861, it was for award to the Navy. But, the following July the Army was authorized to use it also.

The Navy has conferred the medal on 729 Navy men, 278 Marines and one Coast Guardsman.

Act of Congress

In addition, the Medal of Honor has been awarded under special act of Congress to 10 others. These include Col. Charles A. Lindbergh; Maj. Gen. Adolphus Greeley, the explorer; the three American unknowns and those of Belgium, Britain, France, Italy and Romania after World War I.

But it was in the Civil War that the preponderance of Medals of Honor were awarded—1,199.

The Civil War list would have remained even higher if years later, in 1916, a War Department board hadn't reviewed the circumstances of awards. From the Medal of Honor rolls, 911 names were clipped.

After the sifting out, the medal list was confined to those who had fought, and in many instances died, with valor or who otherwise, like Lindbergh, had brought high honor to the nation.

Democratic Candidate Sentenced to 90 Days for Non-Support

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A 90-day jail sentence has been ordered for Roman R. Blenski, a candidate for Democratic nomination for representative from the 4th District.

The 45-year-old Blenski was charged with failure to support his wife and three of their four children. County Judge F. Ryan Duffy Jr., stayed the sentence for one year on condition that Blenski make the $38 a week payments previously ordered by a circuit court.

Mrs. Eleanor Blenski testified at the hearing Wednesday that her husband had not paid more than $10 a week and she had to support the children from her $35 a week income as a hotel waitress. Blenski said the $38 payment was more than he earned.

Blenski, a former state senator, lost a fight in Circuit Court in

Check Into Sudden Improvement in Sight

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
I am often indebted to other physicians, some of them friends and some of them complete strangers who volunteer thoughts of information about topics we discuss in this column.

Some little time ago we had reference to a man of 77 who was beginning to see better without his glasses than with them. An ophthalmologist friend points out that this may, strange as it seems, be a danger warning that would put an eye specialist on guard.

Diseases Suspect
There is a possibility, he remarks, of nuclear cataracts developing which would make him more myopic (near sighted) and cause him to see better without glasses or we would also suspect early incipient glaucoma which will often change the index of refraction, making the patient see better for near things for television, etc.

It is of course, no foregone conclusion that either of these troubles is developing. The point is that they could be. I guess the moral is plain enough: have your eyes examined when anything unusual seems to be occurring.

Difficult Diabetic
Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain why a man with diabetes is so hard to get along with. It turns him into almost a raving maniac. He's unreasonable in every little thing. —M.B.H.

He may be somewhat worried about his condition, but from what you tell me about the sweets he eats, he obviously isn't obeying the first rule of controlling diabetes. You'll have to look elsewhere for the cause of his tantrums. It's not the diabetes.

Arthritis of Spine
Dear Dr. Molner: Could arthritis of the spine hurt underneath the breast bone? My doctor says costochondritis — Mrs. M.V. Hon, the department said. Yes, it is possible for this to do. By closing the bases and happen, in much the same way selling them as surplus, the cost of sciatica can cause pain in an ornament is expected to save $5. the legs as well as in the back $10,000 a year in maintenance. Amateur Balloon Pilots Must Solo, FAA Ruling Says

WASHINGTON, AP — Starting Aug. 7, anyone who wants a hot air balloon pilot certificate will have to demonstrate his ability to handle such craft in solo flight. The Federal Aviation Agency said so.

Heretofore, candidates for a trade and industrial exhibition free certificate limited to hot air was opened Friday by Ghana balloons had only to meet certain President Kwame Nkrumah requirements as to age, character, a message from Premier, citizenship, education and Khushchev said the people of this African nation "can rely upon their selfless, sincere and devoted people or skill. The government friends."

could afford to be liberal on this score because all hot air balloon flights were short ones. New rules were required because recent improvements make longer flights possible, the FAA said.

Persons who currently hold hot air balloon pilot certificates are unaffected by the new rule.

No wonder the English keep so cool!

(mix Gordon's Gin in a tall, iced drink—and you will, too!)

The English are not easily fazed, even by summer heat. This national talent was given a cheerful accompaniment in 1769 when Alexander Gordon introduced his remarkable gin. The Gordon's you drink today harks back to his original formula, because one does not tamper with gin of such distinctive dryness and flavour. Try it soon in a tangy Gin & Tonic or Tom Collins. You'll see why, summer and winter, Gordon's Gin is the biggest seller in England, America, and indeed — the world!

About 225 Students and staff members attended the Hawaiian party that opened campus social activities for the summer session at Wisconsin State College, Oshkosh. The party was held in Reeve Memorial Union, transformed into a tropical setting for the event. Seated in the foreground, from the left, are Mrs. Jackie Crane, Miss Grace Shimek and Miss Rosetta Lund, all of the college clerical staff.

Summer Parties Hawaiian Style Popular Activity in Fox Cities

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

One of the most popular party schemes catching on in the Fox Cities area is the Hawaiian luau or variation thereof. Perhaps it's because foods with a Hawaiian accent are excellent . . . or because this kind of party always is informal at its casual best with a chance for creative decorations and costume touches such as gay sports shirts, muu-muus and bright leis of real or paper flowers.

One thing is certain . . . cooks from our 49th state are the greatest for dreaming up luscious foods for summer outdoor entertaining. They're experts at it from long practice. A party borrowed from Hawaii can be given on the beach, in the backyard or even indoors. Such a party is adaptable for private entertaining and for groups big or small. Summer students at Wisconsin State College, Oshkosh, recently opened campus social activities in their Reeve Memorial Union, transformed into a tropical paradise.

A suggested menu for a Hawaiian party includes Chicken Lau Lau, a recipe from the Islands, Hawaiian Barbecued Ribs, a tropical Sip and Spoon Dessert served with delicious Jam Fingers.

4 Winners Of Contest Announced

The four preliminary winners in Outagamie County's first annual June Dairy Recipe Contest have been announced by Miss Mary Beth Kuester, contest chairman and home economist of the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co.

They are the Misses Sally Tubbs and Cheryl Lee Mueller, both of Seymour, junior division winners, and Mrs. H. D. Johnson, 210 E. Byrd St., Appleton, and Mrs. Mat theidrich, route 1, Kaukauna, senior division.

The four contestants will prepare their recipes at a county cook-off July 18 at Madison Junior High School, beginning at 2 p.m. The winner of this event will represent Outagamie County in the district contest Aug. 1 in Green Bay, to be televised over Station WBAY-TV.

The preliminary contest was conducted by the Outagamie County Extension office. Cash awards for the winning entries were donated by the First National Bank and Consolidated Badger Co-operative, Appleton. Judges were Mrs. Myrtle Webb, Lawrence College dietician, and Lillian Mackesy, Post-Crescent food editor.

Square Dance Club Plans County Fair

A "County Fair" and watermelon feed will be sponsored by the Romeoos and Calicos Square Dance Club at 8:30 p.m. Sunday at the VFW Hall.

A blue ribbon prize winner booth will feature home-baked and home-canned foods. Lyle Leatherman, Menasha, will call the squares and rounds.

The club plans a fifth Sunday hoedown July 29. The annual club family picnic will be held Aug. 12 at the Combined Locks park and pavilion. Beginners square dance classes will start Sept. 15 according to VFW leaders. Menasha club chairman.

Foods in the Hawaiian manner highlight the menu for a beach, poolside or backyard barbecue. At the left, heating on the hibachi, are packets of Chicken Lau Lau and Hawaiian Barbecued Spareribs. Beside them are Sip and Spoon Desserts, a delectable con-ginger. Recipes serves four persons.

For barbecuing, the water and white wine may be sprinkled over chicken mixture before sealing in chard or spinach leaves. Have charcoal fire at point where coals are gray, shot with a ruddy glow. Steam for seven minutes.

Hawaiian Barbecued Ribs
2 racks spareribs
1/2 cup soy sauce
1/2 cup honey
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup sherry wine
1 1/2 cups consommé or bouillon
1 clove garlic, chopped
1 teaspoon powdered ginger
Cut ribs apart. Combine remaining ingredients and the marinade ribs in this mixture for three hours. Spoon sauce over ribs often.

Grill on barbecue or roast in 350-degree oven for one and one-half hours, basting frequently. Serve with mustard and Chinese duck sauce (from a jar) for delectable dipping. Recipe serves six persons if used as an appetizer, or three persons as a main dish.

Sip and Spoon Dessert
2 small pineapples
2 small cantaloupes
2 small fresh coconuts
12 ounces gingerale or vodka
Juice of 2 limes
Juice of 2 oranges
1/2 cup fine sugar
Cut tops off pineapples. Remove coction that combines melon balls, pineapple cubes and fresh coconut strips with coconut milk and gingerale or vodka. Airy-light Jam Fingers also may be served as the final sweet touch to the party meal.

Man-Tailored Look of '30s Seen in Fall Fashions

By JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP) — The long day, his clothes for Maurice Rentner are anything but mannish although they involve men.

This involvement crops up in the use of menswear fabric, in the classic cut of a man's Chesterfield, in a gray worsted suit with a fisher collar, in a camel-colored little boy vest worn with long-sleeved white blouse and black skirt. There's a T-shirt look in a belted black satin dinner dress.

Blass thinks a suit looks undressed unaccompanied by a beret and scarf or stole. He predicts dresses worn with a stole, preferably fur-lined, will take the place of a suit on chilly days. Around the throat of his walking suits he ties a jaunty, matching scarf.

Longer-jacketed walking suits, by the way, are being shown by most designers now, but they all neglect to say where, in this day of limited pedestrian travel, one wears them.

Young, award-winning Blass was not the only designer to pay tribute to the solid, substantial good taste of men's fashions. David Kidd, in his collection for as possible. Place on plate and serve with Sip and Spoon Dessert.

Ross Woodard, Oshkosh, a member of the Wisconsin State College food service, carries in a fresh fruit tray at the campus party. The fruits arranged decoratively on the huge tray and heaped around the whole pineapples are pineapple chunks, bananas and melon cut into finger pieces, whole strawberries and shredded coconut.

Gentleman Chef Wine Cookery Ancient Custom

BY MALCOLM R. HEBERT
Chicago Daily News Service

Cooking with wine is almost as old as civilization itself.

Ancient Egyptians were known to have used wine to cover up stale meat odors, but it remained for the French and Italians to perfect wine cookery and pass down their prized information.

Basically there are six bottles of wine a chef needs to satisfy 95 per cent of his cooking requirements.

These are red wine, white wine,

red Burgundy, white Burgundy, sherry and brandy.

Red and white wines can be obtained for as little as $1 or

$1.50. Either French or American wines can be used.

Sherry is available in both Heat

American and Spanish types; the foamy. Put bananas in pan and

American is much less expensive.

When spears around ice cream and mixing red and white wines in-pour sauce over all. Recipe makes to another liquid heat the wine six servings.

slightly as this makes a better mixture. This is especially true in making sauces.

When using a recipe for the first time always use the exact amount of wine suggested. If it's too much you can always let the mixture simmer slightly longer to evaporate the wine.

When using brandy for cooking remember to burn all the alcohol out. This is done by shaking the pan back and forth until the flame dies out naturally. If the flame dies out too soon relight the brandy.

Here's a quick dessert that uses brandy and a bit of showmanship.

Bananas Brandy Flambe

6 medium sized bananas

3 tablespoons butter

4 tablespoons sugar

2 ounces brandy

Peel bananas. Cut in half and then in half again lengthwise.

Put butter in a saucepan until foamy. Put bananas in pan and heat over medium fire. Turn bananas over several times to coat thoroughly.

As it imparts a delicate flavor Make sure butter and sugar are to food. It's best to try both well mixed. Remove bananas, American and Spanish since most then add brandy and ignite. Shake pan back and forth until the alcohol is burned out. Serve over bananas.

If you wish, place a scoop of vanilla ice cream in the center of each dish. Arrange banana sediment when overcooked. When spears around ice cream and mixing red and white wines in-pour sauce over all. Recipe makes to another liquid heat the wine six servings.

Opening lead — ♣ Q

er, you may have seen a good show but you probably haven't been watching an expert at work. The expert tends to make every-thing look easy.

Take this hand from Fred Kar-pis's new book "How to Play and Winlay: Slam Contracts." Helen Sobel found the right play — a weird finesse — without a change of expression or a pause for breath.

Mrs. Sobel won the opening game of their daughter, Beverly, with the king of clubs, drew trumps with the ace and queen of spades, cashed the ace of dia-monds and ruffed a diamond. She followed with a club to dummy's ace, ruffed another diamond, and led out the ace of hearts.

Declarer next ruffed her last club in dummy and returned the four of hearts. East played the set, five of hearts.

Mrs. Sobel calmly played the six of hearts, exposed her hand, and started to put down the score for a grand slam bid and made. By the time she had written down the score West still hadn't played to that second heart trick.

How did Mrs. Sobel know that she was going to win the trick with the six of hearts? Element-ary, Karpi points out—to peo-ple like Helen Sobel.

East showed out on the second round of clubs, so West had start-ed with seven clubs. West fol-lowed to three diamonds, two trumps and one heart. That ac-counted for his entire hand of 13 cards. West couldn't have another heart, and the weird finesse of the six of hearts was sure to win. East couldn't save himself by playing the ten of hearts instead of the five. Declarer would win and return to dummy with a trump to lead another heart through East.

Daily Question
You are not vulnerable, against vulnerable opponents. Dealer, at your right, opens with one dia-mond. You hold: S 5 2 H 8 D K Q 10 C Q J 9 6 4 3 2. What do you say?

Answer: Bid four clubs. If you are going to make a shutout bid and you should, with this sort of hand, bid as high as you safely. If the opponents can hurt you badly at four clubs they can probably make a vulnerable game or slam.

Engagement Of Daughter Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Schabo, route 3, have announced the en-gagement of their daughter, Bev-erly, to Donald Wichman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Almon Wichman, spades, cashed the ace of dia-monds and ruffed a diamond. She followed with a club to dummy's ace, ruffed another diamond, and led out the ace of hearts.

The couple was graduated from Fox Valley Lutheran High School. Miss Schabo is employed at Appleton State Bank. Her fiance is engaged in farming.

A wedding date has not been set. The wedding will be held at Appleton State Bank.

Spice Secrets of Success

BY MARY-BETH KUESTER
Home Economist
Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co.

Do you approach the subject of spices with the feeling of mys-tery? Actually, there are only a few secrets in using spices.

First, avoid confusing t h e word "spices" w i t h "hot". Very few spices are hot.

Second, over-come the urge to use too much spice flavoring.

Third, feel free to experiment. Fourth, become familiar with the flavors of numerous spices.

Shop and browse at the spice shelf in your grocery.

Fifth, use your spices. Like perfume, they lose their deligh-tful essence on the shelf.

Wide Usage
The word "spice" generally is used to cover spices, seeds, herbs, and vegetable seasonings.

For example: Anise, a seed, bay leaf, an herb, the spice cinna-mon, and celery salt, a vegetable seasoning, all are found on the spice shelf.

Some spices are closely asso-ciated with certain types of cook-ery. Italian cookery features ore-gano and sweet basil, while In-dian foods feature curry powder.

Add new spices to your supply when you try a new recipe. Meat Balls Gourmet is a luscious dish for special occasions. Ginger, ear-lie powder, and instant minced onion make the flavor extra good.

Meat Balls Gourmet
1/2 pound ground beef
1 1/2 tablespoon instant minced

- onion
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 - 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
 - 1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs
 - 1/2 cup grated sharp cheddar cheese
 - 1 teaspoon ground ginger
 - tomato sauce
- Combine first six ingredients. Mix well, then divide into eight equal portions. Mix cheddar cheese with ginger; shape into eight balls. Wrap each portion of ground beef mixture around each cheese ball. Brown on all sides in baking pan. Pour tomato sauce over meat balls. Bake 30 to 40 minutes in 350-degree oven.
- Tomato Sauce
8-ounce can tomato sauce
1/2 teaspoon crumbled whole basil leaves
1/2 teaspoon crumbled whole oregano leaves
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
1/2 cup boiling water
- Mix all ingredients in sauce-pan. Bring to boiling point. Pour over browned meat balls.
- Quick Lobster Thermidor
10 1/2-ounce can cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup hot water
1 1/2 cups fresh lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon powdered dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground pepper
5-ounce can lobster
5 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese paprika
dried parsley flakes
- Mix first seven ingredients, all except grated cheese and garnish in saucepan. Blend well but light-ly. Cook over low heat until hot.

Turn into buttered casserole. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Bake 15 to 20 minutes in 350-degree oven, or until brown.

Garnish with paprika and dried parsley flakes. Recipe serves five persons.

Students Shift Emphasis Of Summer School Study

Time was, a youngster would go to school in the summer only because he flunked a subject and had to make it up.

Tight now, however, hundreds of thousands of boys and girls are taking summer courses entirely on their own volition. Among them are:

Students who take extra courses they cannot fit into the regular school curriculum.

Gifted pupils concentrating on a particular field of study, such as language, mathematics or science.

Students who, for reasons of their own want to speed up their graduation.

Those who want courses (such as driver education) which cannot be scheduled for all pupils during the regular school year.

Emphasis Shifting

While many summer schools still provide only the traditional make-up and remedial courses, the emphasis is definitely shifting, so that most school systems now speak of "enrichment," "advanced work for the gifted," and "acceleration" as major goals.

Among the summer courses now offered are Russian and other languages, Great Books, rapid reading and creative writing; college-bound students obtain special benefits from such subjects as pre-college English and "brief-hand" for note-taking and languages. In many schools talented students may take advanced courses in mathematics and science. Some places welcome students from outside the school district.

More Summer Programs
Educational authorities are generally agreed that more school systems are operating summer programs than ever before, with more young people participating. And, although there are no statistics for the nation as a whole, one eastern state that maintains such records reports that nearly 180,000 students attend summer school last year, compared with 50,000 ten years earlier.

Not long ago the National Education Association, following a survey of summer school programs, came to the conclusion that about half the city and suburban school districts in the United States have summer schools.

Future Expansion Seen

"Many of these will expand their programs in the near future, and a number which have none at present will add to them soon," the association reported.

Some educators see the growth of summer school programs as the forerunner of a year-round school for everyone, has alarmed many people, not all of them children, but from all appearances, there is no immediate danger.

Testimony to Thrift

In a very real sense, the expansion of summer schools across the nation stands as testimony to a great national thirst for knowledge, and a desire by many boys and girls to get ahead in life, with the encouragement of parents and educators. Students who choose to go to summer school sacrifice some or most of their two-month summer vacation; and elementary summer student spends between six and seven weeks at school, while high school students spend more than seven weeks, on the average. Here and there, schools design their courses to permit something of a vacation during the summer.

For example, in one suburban school district, pupils in advanced mathematics are in class from 9 to 12 in the morning for the month of July. This schedule provides time for both instruction and homework, and still gives them July afternoons to themselves, as well as the entire month of August.

Long-Time Tradition

Of course, summer school has been a long-time tradition in the nation's colleges where undergraduates and graduate students have gone for many years, to improve their knowledge. For example, some 600 teachers who work in elementary and high schools across the country are attending college workshops in family finance, where they are learning about budgeting, life insurance and other insurance, savings and investments, and Social Security. They are studying these subjects in order to pass along the information to students in their classes back home. This particular program of summer workshops is being given at 16 universities under the sponsoring of the National Committee for Education in Family Finance.

Accountant Runs After Rainbows of Learning but Clock Shows It's Time He Began Earning

DEAR CY: I thought you were the person street, starting all over. What do who believed age 40 was no bar, you recommend to men in my po-rior to succeeding. Then I read your column where you ad-vised an accountant's wife against letting her husband change jobs. He was over 40. You thought he should concentrate on earning money, and give up trying to get experience. You are reversing yourself.

ORRISON

DEAR ORRISON:

For the reason you gave, I re-ceive many letters from execu-tives. You do not mention pension and profit sharing programs, so I assume your firm has none. It figures. In a sizeable and closely held company, lack of these pro-grams often indicates the race-jump jobs for "experience" in an-then-while-they-live management other line. Here was the case of technique. You may be paid a a mature man back at his favorite handsome salary, but don't make sport of chasing rainbows. In the mistake of slipping on your youth, learning is more important quota. You'll find yourself reclin-earnings. As we grow older, ing on concrete. DEAR CY:

It may seem strange for an ex-ecutive to write you for advice, but sometimes I get so lost in the forest, an outside viewpoint helps. I am now general sales manager of a rather large electrical supply company. Every year, top man-agement asks me for a 20 per cent increase in sales, and for the past four years they have gotten it. DEAR CY:

For a long time, I have written poems and verse for my own en-joyment. Last Saturday night, my friends insisted I read my work company. They were very enthusi-atic, and want me to submit my poems to a publisher. According to them, I will find a ready buyer, 43 years of age, and not so sure until now, I was not aware of the my health will stand up indefi-

WOULD YOU PROBABLY PAY BLACKMAIL?

YES ☐ NO ☐

BY SYLVANUS AND EVELYN DUVAL

Yes, if the blackmailer had come out anyway, and the sense, because it will probably all come out anyway, and the had sooner the better. But most people will pay anyway. Can we encourage children to improve themselves? Yes. Some teachers have helped children who come from poor and uneducated families to see the advantages of education. Praise for attainments, rather than scolding and exhortation, will best motivate them to learn. Then, when the children start "pushing themselves" and start doing better, reward and praise are in order. You'll further understand the importance of this after you read the popular booklet, "Your Child's Emotional Health." EADS

DEAR EADS:

The market for poetry and verse is not good. And compliments of friends have hurt many a man who finally learned the truth. So, don't be dismayed if your hobby doesn't suddenly cascade C-notes into your palm. Contact greeting card publishers, who might be your best prospects. Start with Rust Craft publishers. Dedham, Massachusetts. For each verse or idea accepted, you could get a check ranging from $5 to $25.

Gagnow Family Holds Reunion

The Gagnow family held its annual reunion Sunday at Rock Lodge Park, Seymour. A potluck dinner was served at noon. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Timm were named family chairmen. Mr. and Mrs. Robert School will serve as co-chairmen; Miss Meta Gagnow, treasurer, and Mrs. Lila Dreier, librarian. John Vick, Twelve Corners, was the oldest family member present. He is 81. The youngest was Kim-berly Thede, 3 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Thede, Neenah. Next year's reunion will be July 14 at the same place.

Dress Tips

If you have a three-button suit, that is perfectly good, and if you like the two-button effect—have your tailor press the lapels with a "long roll." That'll give the "look." Keep Cool! It may be partially psychological but light-colored clothes do deflect the light. Badly soiled collars and cuffs sun's rays and you feel cooler. Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

DISPROPORTIONATE LIST

Between my husband and me we have sixteen brothers and sis- ters, all are married and all have children. My son is to be mar-ried in six weeks to a girl who is an only child and who has but three uncles and two aunts. The bride's mother has made up her list for in- vitations and instructed me to submit an equal number of names. She says she doesn't want to show partiality. Does this make sense?

Louise Davis Answers:

No. The mother is forcing you to use partiality and isn't using her head. In all fairness, she should consider a proportionate list. As I don't see what else you can do but to comply, you will have to take some bitter medicine. Let us hope that your large family will understand. But in the meantime, let us hope that the bride's parents wake up and cor- rect the situation. Without forc- ing the issue, perhaps your son and his fiancée will realize the difference in the size of the two families in which case the girl may discuss it with her parents.

CONGRATULATE THE GROOM

I have been told that one doesn't congratulate the bride at her wed- ding reception. If that is the case, I have been incorrect all these years. What is the rule?

Louise Davis Answers:

The bride is not congratulated. She gets best wishes for her hap- piness. The bridegroom is the one who is congratulated.

Riverside Park Setting For Bard's Fantasy

Players Present Shakespeare's
'Midsummer Night' This Evening

BY JINGO

Tonight Riverside Park in Neenah will become a forest glade wherein the wedding of Theseus, Duke of Athens, and Hippolyta, Queen of the Amazons, will be celebrated by the townspeople and the little people of the woods.

The transportation of mundane things of reality will be affected by the city recreation department's Riverside Players under the direction of Mrs. Herbert Harker.

Of all of the pieces of fancy that have been penned or contrived, "The Midsummer Night's Dream" stands at the pinnacle of airy nothingness. In their short life, the Riverside Players have made a name for themselves in their acute sensitivity to airy nothingness. Out of Moliere and Gilbert and Sullivan they have created brilliant, sparkling gems of stylish entertainment.

As great as the Frenchman and the Victorians are, they are nothing—in nothingness—compared with the Bard. With this material what heights will the Riverside Players reach!

Mrs. Harker has gathered together a most representative cast which will make tonight, Friday and Saturday's pavilion play a truly Fox Cities effort worthy of complete community support.

Theseus and Hippolyta's wedding has been celebrated in many ways since its magic poured from Shakespeare's imagination in the autumn of 1594. Oberon, Titania and Puck have gambled in glades much like the Athenian wood the Bard pictured. Bottom has been transformed in huge civic auditoriums and in an early Hollywood extravaganza. The well meaning mechanics have chopped up the classics in classrooms and converted gymnasiums.

genius again will be saluted! David Merrick is producing "Othello" in modern dress and for the most topical role of Iago, the conniver, Merrick has chosen Jason Roberts Jr.

Women Star In Calendar Special

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 (Channel 2) — The highly successful daytime show, Calendar, lets the nighttime audience see a sample with a special to-night. Regular hosts Harry Reasoner and Mary Fickett will show you an "informational variety" show, built around the theme of what women do in the daytime.

6:30-7 (Channel 2) — Accent's idea this week is to give you a brief and painless look at Shakespeare. The site for this is the Stratford, Conn., theater where the American Shakespeare Festival holds forth every summer. You'll see this beautiful theater, meet its guiding spirit, Lawrence Langner, and see some bits of the repertoire — Richard Basehart in a soliloquy from "King Richard II" and Eric Berry and James Hay in a comedy scene from "Henry IV, Part I."

6:30-7:30 (Channel 4-5) — Outlaws' repeat gives us a double dose of Pygmalion, when two wilderness-reared sisters are turned into ladies before our eyes. The two, Olive Sturges and Gina Gillespie — are entrusted with $25,000 by their father, who admonishes them to put it in a safe place. They do — the bank. But the bank recognizes it as its own money, taken by an armed robber.

7-8 (Channel 2) — Frontier Circus' repeat uses the show's favorite device — it picks up a derelict and makes a story out of the encounter. Tonight, Elizabeth Montgomery is found on the circus grounds, her back showing evidence of being whipped. While she recovers, she has an effect on each of the three male principals.

8:30-9 (Channel 11) — It's rare when a series show takes a strong stand, but tonight's The Law and Mr. Jones is that rare exception. This one comes out and says there is considerably hysteria in the hunt for subversives. James Whitmore's client played by young Bruce Dern) has been hounded out of his engineering career by vindictive Hugh Marlowe. And he is in jail for attempting to kill his persecutor.

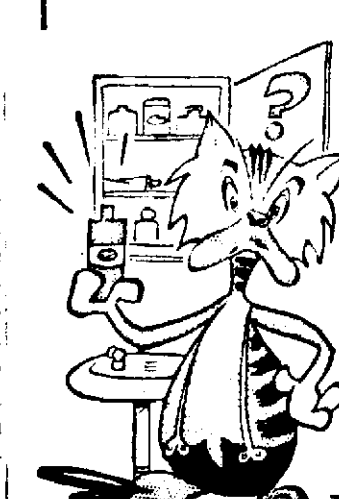

8:30-9 (Channel 2) — The Zane Grey Theater repeats a show which was called "Loyalty" in 1939 but is now re-issued under the title, "Heritage." It stars Edward G. Robinson Sr. and Jr. and is a story of father and son — but, oddly, young Robinson doesn't play the son. Instead, he's the

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. I would like to know if it is advisable for a cat to take a dog's medicine? Paul Levesque, Grand Falls, New Brunswick.

A. This depends on the medicine. There are some medicines which can be used for both cats and dogs with the dosage determined on a weight basis. On the other hand, there are some dog medicines which might make a cat very ill. Among these are some alkaloids like morphine, various coal tar preparations and insecticides. No non-prescription medicine bought in a drug store for a dog should be used on cats unless it is clearly indicated on the label. No medicine prescribed by your veterinarian for your dog should be given to any other animal without his consent. If any dog medicine is eaten accidentally by a cat, it should be checked to avoid a chance of poisoning. One dog's poison is another cat's poison.

Address your questions to Dr. Moller in care of this paper. He will answer selected inquiries in his column, but cannot reply to them.

Form Flowers From Wire For Mother's Fall Corsage

BY CAPPY DICK

At almost any hobby shop you completed three or four, but can get chenille-covered wire stems together and tie them that look like pipe cleaners, but with a ribbon. Figure 5 to make are longer and silkier and come a bouquet. You can even dab a in a variety of colors. It is fun to little perfume on the corsage, if that in Figure 4. If you take special care you can make a bouquet that will be pretty enough for Mother to wear as a corsage on the lapel of her Fall suit.

Make the petals of the flower first. Choose wire of a suitable color and bend it into loops as in Figure 1. The loops form the petals.

When all the petals have been made, twist a green chenille wire that look real. When you have completed three or four, twist can get chenille-covered wire stems together and tie them that look like pipe cleaners, but with a ribbon. Fox Cities Teens Plan to Attend Easter Seal Camp

Five Fox Cities area teenagers are among more than 100 from around the state who will arrive at the Easter Seal Society's Camp Wawbeek for a two week stay Sunday.

Camp Wawbeek for the handicapped is located near Wisconsin Dells. The camp grounds are paved with wide walks, all entryways are ramped and buildings are equipped with hand rails to make it easier for the campers, many of them in wheelchairs and on crutches, to move about.

At Wawbeek the teenagers will participate in the same camping activities that are enjoyed by able-bodied boys and girls. Equipment and playing courts are modified so all campers can join in. Planning to attend the July 15 to 28 session from this area are Neal Chudacoff, 230 E. Glendale Ave., James French, 131 S. Memorial Drive, Richard Hickinbotham, 320 S. Memorial Drive, Karen Zimmerman, 2014 N. Appleton St., and Donald Krake, route 1, New London.

In Planting

Programs Involve
3 Million Trees on Wisconsin Acreage

Eleven Wisconsin companies have reported 1961-62 tree-planting programs involving 3,064,200 trees on 2,654 acres of company owned lands, an increase of 96,200 trees and 63 acres over last year's figures, according to data compiled by American Forest Products Industries, Inc.

The industries survey included planting activities for the fall of 1961 and spring of 1962. The Nekoosa-Edwards Paper Co., Port Edwards, reported planting 912,000 seedlings on 734 acres, an increase of nearly 300,000 trees over the previous planting season.

Decrease Listed
The firm also listed an inventory of 10,740,000 seedlings and sales of 2,309,000 trees, of which 1,396,800 went to private landowners.

Rhineland Paper Co., a division of St. Regis Paper Co., Rhineland, planted 850,000 trees on 650 acres, a decrease of 150,000 due to variation in planting stock production.

The company distributed 100,000 of 850,000 seedlings produced to landowners. It established two new seed orchards.

Consolidated Papers, Inc., Wisconsin Rapids, planted 485,000 seedlings on 385 acres, according to the survey. The company's Monico nursery produced 800,000 seedling and transplants.

Donate Trees
The firm gave 300,000 free trees to Trees for Tomorrow, Inc., for distribution under its own program.

Mosinee Paper Mills, Co. Mosinee, reported planting 215,000 trees on 239 acres — an increase of 76 acres over the 1960-61 season.

The Woodlands Division of Kimberly-Clark Corp., in Norway, Mich., reported that 124,000 transplants were made on 210 acres of company-owned lands in Wisconsin. The firm distributed 217,000 seedlings to landowners.

100 Seedlings Per Acre
Marathon, a division of American Can Co., Menasha, reported to the survey that it had planted 100,000 seedlings on 100 acres.

Chicago and North Western Railway Co., Chicago, reported the planting of 15,000 seedlings on 10 acres in Wisconsin. Cornell Paperboard Products, Cornelia, Minn., and Penta Wood Products, Inc., Siren, Great Central Insurance Co. The safe, stolen from Norm's Cities Service filling station, Neenah, by Nelson A. Weeder, 524 N. Richmond St., and a 17-year-old youth, was found by Appleton patrolmen John W. VanderWyst, Ronald L. Recker and Rodney G. Helms and Detective Sgt. Norbert Marx after the thieves' car broke down in Appleton. The pair was arrested and turned over to Neenah police. Merle B. Stone, Oshkosh, left, presented the check for the insurance company, which carried the filling station's theft insurance. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Khrushchev's Latest Barbs at U. S. Not New

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—Premier Khrushchev sounds stale but stuck. But, since he's a jolly man with more needles than a dressmaker, he'll probably poke one in the West soon again just to see it jump.
This week in Moscow he talked and Berlin.

The military spending is using up money he'd like to put into the Russian economy but can't because, as he made clear, Russia is going to keep on increasing its armaments.

Meat Prices Up
Last May the Soviet government boosted meat prices 30 per cent, butter prices 25 per cent to pay for new farm equipment and explained to the people this had to be done because the money could not come out of military spending. Although the American economy is humbling a bit, Congress this year voted another $13 billion for missile purchases, and on Wednesday the Senate authorized almost another $4 billion for the space program.

Khrushchev could save himself a lot of money by agreeing with the United States to disarmament. The trouble here is that the kind he wants the United States won't buy and the kind this country wants he won't touch.

He went through all this in his speech. He wants disarmament without the inspection system that the United States insists is necessary before it agrees to disarm.

In mid-June the 17-nation disarmament conference wound up three months of getting nowhere in a barrage of charges and countercharges but will cheerfully resume talks again next Monday without any more sign of agreement than it had before.
Nevertheless, Khrushchev admitted to feeling the economic pinch. He said, "We are by no means happy that we have to spend so much effort and resources on the production of modern weapons."

But, to justify it, he said the West is planning preventive war and he frankly stated the Soviets will continue building up their nuclear stockpiles.

West Getting Ahead
The Russians last fall suddenly announced an end to a voluntary ban on nuclear testing and began testing.

The reason may have been that they felt the West was getting ahead in the fine art of nuclear destruction and they couldn't afford to be outdone. In turn, the United States, not to be outdone either, resumed testing.

Without mentioning what Russia did, Khrushchev denounced the United States for what it did.

Last summer Khrushchev created a new crisis in Berlin, and it turned into an ugly one. He backed away from an explosion. And there hasn't been a settlement. Since this was a setback for him it's no wonder he keeps thinking about it.

In his speech he suggested the Western allies get their troops out of West Berlin and let them be replaced by troops from two Russian satellites, Poland and Czechoslovakia, along with Norwegian and Danish or Dutch and Belgian troops.

By this arrangement, Communist troops would be allowed to get into West Berlin where they weren't allowed before. The thing wrong with this, the State Department said, was that the Russians had proposed it before and were turned down.

All in all, if Khrushchev didn't gain anything by the speech, he didn't lose anything either, which probably explains why he didn't make it since his policy for quite a while now has been simply marking time.

Chief Mullarkey stated these men will stay together under the Navy's "Buddy System" during recruit training, after which they will be assigned to one of the Navy's 800 technical training schools before becoming part of the fleet. Chief Mullarkey also stated the Navy has a limited number of openings for three year enlistments for the coming months. GOP Has Full Slate of Precinct Committeemen

The Republican Party has a full slate of candidates for precinct committeemen in Outagamie County for the first time in the memory of most party leaders.

Candidates have filed in each of the county's 56 precincts. Today was the deadline for filing for the September primary.

"At no time in the memory of any local Republican leader has this ever been accomplished," said Harold A. Froehlich, Appleton chairman of the county Republican statutory committee.

Only two candidates filed in 1956 while 26 filed in 1958 and 12 in 1960.

Nineteen Democrats have filed for precinct committeemen, also for a larger turnout than usual.

County Democratic chairman Lester Balliet said the party was pleased with the number of candidates, which is the largest in a number of years.

Kaukauna May Invest Funds

Finance Committee Recommends Putting $1 Million in Banks

KAUKAUNA — The common council should invest $1 million in certificates of deposit, the council's finance committee decided Wednesday.

The funds, with six months' maturity, would be invested in equal portions in the city's two banks.

The money represents funds received by the city in the $2 million bond issue floated for construction of an addition to the high school. Remainder of the unscheduled money is to be invested in United States treasury bills according to recommendation of the committee.

Committee members indicated this procedure would keep money available for construction payments as well as realizing income of almost $100 per day while the money was invested.

Bookkeeping Machine

Members voted to have a representative of a firm manufacturing bookkeeping machines give a demonstration on use of the machine at the next finance committee meeting. The group is studying the possibility of installing such a machine in the city clerk's and city treasurer's office to modernize and simplify record keeping.

Approval was given to the payment of $1851 to various agencies for preliminary work done on the school bond issue. The committee will recommend the payment of $300 to the Veterans of Foreign Wars to cover cost of the Memorial Day observance in the city.

Record Set by Air Force Balloon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force said Wednesday a new balloon, designed to maintain constant altitude despite variations in day and night temperatures, has established a new record by remaining aloft for 30 days.

The big balloon carrying a 50-pound payload of instruments for sampling the air at high altitudes was launched from Bermuda June 10 and descended about 1,200 miles northwest of Honolulu Tuesday.

It had maintained a constant altitude of 65,000 feet since the launching, traveling meanwhile about 8,000 miles.

The balloon was equipped with a timing device to bring it down at the end of desired data-gathering flights.

Ben Khedda was quoted as saying:

"We have decided to establish a close cooperation between the two countries in the field of the anti-imperialist struggle."

He said that Algeria will be the first to receive a large number of North Korean experts in our struggle.

WASHINGTON (AP) — An atomic explosion scheduled to be held on Tuesday at the Nevada Test Site has been postponed.

The explosion, which was the first of a series of tests, was postponed because of a malfunction in the device.

County Fair Gets Off to Rocking Start With Teen-Age Music Show

BY LYNN HANNAGAN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The Outagamie County Fair at Seymour got off to a rocking good start Wednesday evening as the "Record Review of Stars" hit the fairgrounds grandstand stage.

The entertainment started with something that had little or nothing to do with the rock and roll theme—a performance by 46 members of Little Chute's Dutch Girls drum and bugle corps. The corps marched and played and marched some more followed by a group of little boys who strutted their best to the music. The audience, composed primarily of teenagers, reacted as do most people when they hear hand music and toes and fingers were tapping.

Begins With Flourish

The stage show began with a flourish as master of ceremonies Rudy Varju presented the "Rainbows," a group which would accompany vocalists Charlene Oliver and Johnny Elmore and harmonica players Rudy and Johnny Varju as well as perform on their own.

The Ginny Kelly Adorables, five young ladies who did modern and ballet type dancing with a rock and roll flavor, were one of the nicest parts of the show. But the real hit of the show was one Johnny Elmore who growled and scowled out a series of rock and roll hits to the accompaniment of real live screams of joy from feminine members of the audience.

This so pleased the master of ceremonies that he called Elmore back for two encores and finally let him leave the stage at the risk of having the show run too long.

The remainder of the show was devoted to Green Bay disc jockey Johnny Sax, with the wax with the sax appeal, who introduced songs and snapped his fingers to the music of an area combo the Vibratones.

The Vibes must have hit the right chord with the audience because spectators clapped along with real gusto and responded loudly in the sing along song "What Did I Say."

The evening was topped off with a dance on the stage with the Vibratones playing records being given away and Johnny Sax still snapping his fingers.

Man Gets Terms For Vagrancy, Having Obscene Literature

Raymond A. Leslie, 29, route 1, Hilbert, was sentenced to six months in the county jail for vagrancy and six months for possessing obscene literature. The sentences are to run concurrently.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller granted Leslie Huber Law privileges.

Leslie was arrested by Appleton police early Monday morning after he followed two policemen around their beats. A lewd book let was found in his wallet after he was arrested.

Beloit Chapter Suspended From National Sorority

BELOIT (AP)—The Beloit College chapter of Delta Gamma social sorority was notified Wednesday it has been suspended by its national council organization.

Dr. Miller Upton, the school president, said no reason was given for the action but he declared the college would stand behind the chapter which was placed on probation last spring.

An alumna of the chapter said at the time probation was ordered that the action came as a result of the chapters pledging a Negro coed.

The council did not detail specific reasons for its action.

College Receives Gift of $25,000

A gift of $25,000 to St. Norbert College from Mrs. Joseph M. Conway, widow of the late Green Bay industrialist, was announced Wednesday by the Very Rev. Dennis M. Burke, O. Praem. College president.

The gift, added to an earlier one of $75,000 from Mr. Conway in 1959, brings to $100,000 the amount which St. Norbert College has received from the family.

Father Burke said the money will be combined with the earlier gift to pay the costs of the new college library on the third and fourth floors of Boyle Hall, space formerly occupied by St. Norbert High School.

Conway was former president of the Charmin Paper Products Co. in Green Bay. He was a member of the original St. Norbert College Board of Governors and served on that body from the time of his appointment in 1939 until his death last year. When he retired in 1957, he moved to St. Petersburg, Fla.

jailed for Leaving With Rent Unpaid

Robert Roof, 25, route 2, To maha, was sentenced to 60 days in Outagamie County Jail by County Judge Gustave J. Keller this morning for leaving a Horterville rooming house without paying an $8.49 bill.

Roof can work under the Hu ber Law and thus pay the debt from his earnings. He can apply for out probation after he has paid in full, the judge ruled.

He was arrested April 2 by a sheriff's lieutenant after the landlord complained to the sheriff's department.

Apartment Robbed

Miss Edward O. Brucks, 919 N. Harrison St., told Appleton police Wednesday that a thief stole radio, a record, a shirt, $40 and a small change were stolen from a kitchen cabinet in her apartment at 3301 W. College Ave. above her husband's tavern.

Three Injured After Head-on Crash on 41

Appleton Man Hit Trying to Avoid Veering Car in Lane

Three persons, one of them an Appleton man, were hospitalized after a head-on collision on U. S. 41 in Appleton Wednesday afternoon.

Lawrence Gage, 44, 744 Front St., was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital with possible fractures and was reported in fair condition today.

Stanley F. and Sandra L. Seal, Forest Park III, were taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital with possible fractures and were reported in good condition today.

Gage told Outagamie County police he was driving west on U. S. 41 about 45 miles an hour when he saw the car driven east by Seal veer to avoid a pea picking machine that was traveling on the south shoulder, Gage said. Seal veered into the north lane of traffic. He said he tried to avoid the Seal car by driving on to the north shoulder, but couldn't.

Outagamie County police said the cars came together in Gage's lane. Both cars were facing north on the north shoulder after the impact.

The Seal car started to burn after the crash and the Appleton fire department was called. Fire men extinguished the blaze and took the three injured to the hospitals in the rescue truck.

Lost Dog Identifies Self Over Telephone

LOS ANGELES (AP)—After phoning several dog pounds in search of her lost pet, Donna Hurley found one that answered the description.

Just put him on the phone," Mrs. Hurley said to the startled attendant.

A few words from the woman the kennelman recounted later, and the dog went crazy. He jumped around and yelped. He's her dog all right.

May Urge Appleton Council To Adopt Improvements Plan

Mayor Mitchell Tells Project 70, Taxpayers Unit to Write Letters

The Appleton City Council's failure to discuss and adopt a capital improvements program probably will be given a prod by the Chamber of Commerce Project 70 Committee and the local taxpayers association.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell encouraged the two groups to write letters to the council, during a Project 70 meeting this morning. He made the suggestion while answering a question on the status of programs proposed by the Board of Public Works and the taxpayers association.

The mayor told the committee that he made the original suggestion to form a long range improvements program.

Seeing as the idea was yours I imagine we can count on you to get behind it and push it for adoption," Harold Adams, a committee member commented to the mayor.

Stabilize Taxes

Barley O. Barney and Kenneth Romonesko of the taxpayers group summarized that organization's improvements program and told how they rearranged projects to try to stabilize the portion of the tax rate needed for debt retirement.

The two men said they were sure their group and the Public Expenditures Survey of Wisconsin would be happy to revise the plan, which now is a year out of date.

They said they feel that the plan should be accompanied by an ordinance to insure its utilization and annual review.

John Conway, another committee member, reviewed the 1960 Plan for Chicago, which was started in the early 1900s. He said portions of the plan are becoming realities, or, at least, they should be.

The committee was disappointed that and one at a time in order to lessen budget problems and to earn public support, he explained.

Lot of Work

That plan is a good example of how long it takes sometimes to get a plan and carry it out," W. T. Beinhart, committee chairman, commented. "It takes a lot of work and patience, but it is worth it in the end," he said.

V. I. Minahan, chairman of the Downtown Tomorrow subcommittee, said his group has had an initial meeting and plans to study all phases of the College Avenue business district development.

The committee consists of a cross section of College Avenue businessmen and property owners and representatives of the Business and Professional Women's Club, League of Women Voters and Kings Daughters.

Look of the Future

Minahan said his group will make every effort to form a definite decision on whether a mall should be considered. Should the avenue be a traffic carrier or should it be reserved solely for shopping purposes? That question must be answered, he said, particularly since the decision will affect the proposal to extend Franklin and Washington streets.

The possible removal of angle parking on College Avenue will be studied, he said, and noted that several women on the subcommittee were strongly opposed to parallel parking.

Our primary purpose will be to try to determine what the College Avenue of the future should look like," Minahan explained.

Nelson Predicts New Era Of Growth in Wolf Basin

Two Men Caught In Attempt to Rob Service Station

Police Discover Burglar Inside Buildings; Friend Tries Escape

One man was caught during a burglary as they went to sleep in a junked car in Appleton Tuesday night. One said the other overheard a conversation in the filling station office Wednesday and learned that there was $300 in the safe which was broken and secured by a padlock.

The pair admitted walking to the station from an Appleton tavern and breaking the window. One took a flashlight and gave it to his companion then took a screwdriver and was about to go to work on the safe when the police came.

The lookout said he had just gone around to the front of the service station when he saw the patrolman and the squad car. He said he gave a prearranged signal with the flashlight but saw that it was too late and left.

Police found the flashlight that was taken from the building near the railroad tracks in front of the building.

Eureka Man Gets Year For Auto Shop Theft

OSHKOSH — Robert Kostyniuk, Eureka, was sentenced to one year in the county jail this morning for stealing an $82 grind and described him. All patrolmen or from the Oshkosh Auto Body Shop, S. Main Street.

Judge James A. Sitter said Kosterniuk would apply to serve the sentence under the Hu ber Law.

Governor Speaks at Hearing For Formation of New River Area Planning Unit

Gov. Gaylord Nelson today predicted a new era of economic and recreational growth for the Wolf River Basin and its people, after a through long range planning. The governor's remarks were set out in a speech prepared for delivery at the organization of the officers of the seven member Regional Planning Commission.

Development of the Wolf River recreational resources overshadowed other programs in potential economic importance to the area, he said. But he explained that wise and productive development of recreational resources will depend on good planning in the other fields.

Nelson listed five major fields in which the planning commission can concern itself at the beginning. They are recreation conservation, industrial development, flood control and urban development.

Great Capacity

The Wolf River has far greater capacity as an outdoor resource than is now being used, Nelson asserted. He said the basin can absorb larger numbers of fishermen, boaters, hunters and other sportsmen and vacationers without damage if proper conservation practices are followed and effective precautions taken in other fields.

The Wolf River need not and should not be marred by pollution, shacks, billboards or substandard property use in the development of its recreational potential. Proper planning and proper controls are the answer, he said.

Cut Across Boundaries

The governor explained that the new organization can cut across the political borders of the many governmental units existing in the area to analyze and manage the needs of the watershed as a whole.

The governor said that many other states and the national government are observing the regional planning developments in Wisconsin with deep interest.

32nd Ready to Bid Farewell To Ft. Lewis

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (AP)—Wisconsin's 32nd Infantry Division will observe its 45th anniversary and bid farewell to the Pacific Northwest at a full strength review here next Wednesday.

It will be the last and largest parade we will ever stage on this post," said Capt. Robert Hoff of Milwaukee review project officer.

The Red Arrow Division will be deactivated next month.

The Wisconsin National Guard outfit was called to active duty to last fall in connection with the Berlin crisis.

The review, open to the public will begin at 10 a.m. Bleachers are available for 5,000 persons.

Farewell Address

Major Gen. Herbert A. Smith of Oshkosh, division commander, will review the troops and present a farewell address and present awards and trophies.

Brig. Gen. Francis F. Schweinler of Mosinee, division artillery commander, will serve as troop commander. The 32nd Aviation Company will stage a fly by with its light planes.

The 32nd Division was organized at Camp McArthur near Waco, Tex., 45 years ago when National Guard units from Wisconsin and Michigan were on active duty. Subsequently the division was realigned so that it consisted of Wisconsin units only. The units were from 72 Wisconsin communities.

Secretary of the Army Cyrus R. Vance will take part in the farewell ceremonies the Army announced in Washington, D.C.

Other high ranking Army officials, the governors of Wisconsin and Washington state, county and city officials in this area have been invited to the review.

Camp for Handicapped To Celebrate Jubilee

Camp Wawabek, a recreational center for the handicapped, will have its silver jubilee celebration July 22 open to the public.

The camp just north of Wisconsin Dells on State 13, has been operated by the Wisconsin Easter Seal Society on donations through Easter Seal sales. It was originally donated by Mrs. Carl Henry Davis and Mrs. Alden V. Keene and since 1938 has offered rest, sports, hobbies and nature to over 11,000 handicapped persons between the ages of 8 to 45.

Entertainment, refreshments and guided tours of the Dells area will be available from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Rezoning Petitions New Plats Occupy Plan Group

NEENAH — Two petitions for rezoning and two preliminary plats were the prime objects of discussion at Tuesday night's session of the Neenah Plan Commission here at City Hall.

The two petitions included one by Donald Brehm requesting rezoning of property on Denward Avenue from two family residences to commercial and the other objected to the proposed rezoning of the Harn property on the SW corner of Maple and Peckham Streets. Brehm's petition was denied while the latter one was referred back to the Council for presentation at a public hearing if one is held.

The two preliminary plats were of Woodside Park and Siphon Springs. The Woodside Park plat was recommended for approval contingent upon changes of the street extension map while the plat of Siphon Springs was recommended for approval to the council subject to changes made in the street extension map on which a hearing will be held on Aug. 1.

Also discussed during the meeting was the width of Mittenell Street. It was pointed out that the planned width of the street south of Laudan Boulevard was 60 feet and that the park use of the Old Cedar Street property would undoubtedly require street parking. As a result it was recommended that the width be kept at 60 feet.

Man to Serve Sentence For Cleaning Out Bar

OSHKOSH — A bucker, who was as good as his word, was sentenced to an indeterminate term at Waupun State Prison not to exceed six years by County Judge James A. Sitter this morning.

Max E. Schenkenberg, 46, Fond du Lac, pleaded guilty Monday of stealing $400 from the "Sally's Bar" above her husband's tavern.

Schenkenberg had been painting the exterior of the tavern and told the bartender he was going to clean out the interior of the bar.

"Pirates" invaded Appleton playgrounds Wednesday looking for treasure concealed by recreation department leaders. Searching at the City Park treasure hunt were William Vanden Boogaard, left, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Vanden Boogaard, Sally Resch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Resch, and Nancy Meyers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meyers.
